

ALUMNI NEWS

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT GREENSBORO

WINTER 1985

Equal but Special

Meeting The Needs of Handicapped Students

---

Regional Meetings Across the State

---

Mozelle Olive Smith Remembers

---

Home Economics Alumni Seminar

---

Women's Athletics: A Tradition of Excellence

---

VOTE: See page 32

---

Regional Meetings Reach 7,000 North Carolinians

Seven regional meetings were held across the state last fall to give alumni of all sixteen campuses of the UNC system a chance to congregate, to meet President William Friday and members of the Board of Governors, and to celebrate the spirit of cooperation among the campuses. With the theme, "Partners in Progress," the highlight of each program was a multi-media presentation that described how the campuses of the university system enhance the lives of all North Carolinians in their commitment to education, research, and public service.

Scattered between mid-October and mid-December, the meetings were held in locations that served alumni of several counties each. Meetings were held in:

Winston-Salem, at the Benton Convention Center,

Charlotte, at the Charlotte Convention Center,

Raleigh, at the McKimmon Center on the NCSU campus,

Wilmington, on the UNC-Wilmington campus,

Greenville, in the East Carolina University student center,

Elizabeth City, on the Elizabeth City State University campus, and Asheville, at the Grove Park Inn.

A good showing of UNC-G alumni from each region were in attendance at the meetings, and many served on planning committees to ensure the success of the events. Alumni Director Barbara Parrish '48 and Associate Director Brenda Meadows Cooper '65 attended all seven regional meetings, and, in most locations, hosted premeeting parties for UNC-G alumni along with Alumni Association President Marilib Barwick Sink '44.

Among alumni attending the Regional Meeting held in Charlotte were (l-r) Marty Washam '55, Carol Rogers Needy '52, Anne Hathaway '71, and Bill Paole '76. Anne, by the way, is a triple alumna; she received her BA, MLS and EdD degrees all from UNC-G. Marty is second vice president of the Alumni Association.

In Raleigh, Alumni Association President Marilib Barwick Sink '44 chatted with Judy Barrett '42 (above, left). Judy served as the Association's president from 1960-1961. Nancy Hill Snow '54 and Barbara Mitchell Parramare '54 (above) attended the Regional Meeting held in Raleigh. They were "right at home" on the NC State campus — both are on the faculty there. At the pre-meeting party in Wilmington, Mary Boney Sheats '38 and UNC-G Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs James H. Allen, found themselves in conversation. Mary, a former faculty member at Agnes Scott College, received an Alumni Service Award from UNC-G last May. She lives in Wilmington now.

ALUMNI NEWS

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT GREENSBORO

WINTER 1985

VOLUME 73, NUMBER 2

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

OFFICERS

Mary Elizabeth Barwick Sink '44, Winston-Salem
President
Anne Duke Sanders '59, Elizabeth City
First Vice President
Martha Frances Washam '55, Charlotte
Second Vice President
Diana Chatham Calaway '55, Mount Airy
Recording Secretary
Barbara Parrish '48, Greensboro
Executive Secretary-Treasurer

TRUSTEES

Sara Queen Brown '43, Clyde
Barbara Hardy Bunn '77, Raleigh
Jill Cutler Farley '83, Cary
Sadie Dunn Dowie '57, Washington, DC
Mary Lou Howie Gamble '53, Monroe
Patricia Grillin '63, Sandy Ridge
Betty Lou Mitchell Guigou '51, Valdese
Dorothy Shiver Hubbard '52, Wilkesboro
Jon Mark Jackson '84, Greensboro
Rubin Maness '72, Goldsboro
Ann Phillips McCracken '60, Sanford
Betsy Sutt Oakley '69, Greensboro
Lois Bradley Queen '60, Titusville, FL
Susan McCallum Rudisill '70, Hickory
Ruth Lane Webb Smith '47, Atlanta, GA
Betsy Bulluck Strandberg '48, Rocky Mount
Patty Walker '82, Pfafftown
Edna Earle Richardson Watson '40, Roseboro
Lucile Bethea Whedbee '39, Wilmington
Alumni Annual Giving Council Chair, ex-officio
Bronna Willis '62, Lynchburg, VA
Finance Committee Chair, ex-officio

THE EDITORIAL BOARD

Patricia A. Griffin '63, Sandy Ridge, Chair
R. Selby Bateman '75, Greensboro
Barbara Davis Berryhill '57, Charlotte
Maura Canoles '80, Greensboro
Mary Beth Ferrell '84, Greensboro
Joy Joines '63, Reidsville
James M. Lancaster '72, Greensboro
Martha Mitchell '76, High Point
Marion Polk Ross '73, Greensboro
Ellen Strawbridge Yarbrough '55,
Winston-Salem
Jim Clark '78 MFA, Faculty Representative
Brenda Volpe '86, Student Representative
Mary Elizabeth Barwick Sink '44
President of the Association, ex-officio
Ruth Sevier Foster '53, Lenoir
Immediate Past Chair, ex-officio
Miriam Corn Holland '74, Greensboro
Editor of Alumni Publications, ex-officio
Barbara Parrish '48, Greensboro
Executive Secretary-Treasurer, ex-officio

PUBLICATION STAFF

Editor: Miriam C. Holland '74
Editorial Assistant: Pamela A. McEvoy
Photographer: Bob Cavin, Information Services

ALUMNI NEWS is published quarterly by the Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, 1000 Spring Garden Street, Greensboro, NC 27412. Alumni contributors to the Annual Giving Fund receive the magazine. Non-alumni may receive the magazine by contributing to the Annual Giving Fund. Second class postage paid at Greensboro, NC. USPS 015220

CONTENTS

Off Campus: Alumni Everywhere

Regional Meetings

Reach 7,000 North Carolinians

CII

Equal but Special

Meeting the Needs of Handicapped Students

Fifty-eight UNC-G students this year have identified themselves as handicapped.

2

The Centenary Project

Mozelle Olive Smith Remembers

by Dr. Richard Bardolph

The late alumna tells the story of her days here from the Practice School in 1895 through her graduation in 1940.

11

On Campus

Home Economics Alumni Seminar

Gladys Strawn Bullard '39 received the 1984 Distinguished Alumni Award.

14

Spartan Sports

A Tradition of Excellence

by Ty Buckner '84

In this, Ty's last article for Alumni News, we look at women's athletics at UNC-G.

15

Class Notes

Personal notes, special achievements, marriages, births, sympathies, and deaths.

16

Alumni Business

The slate of candidates for officers and trustees of the Alumni Association is presented. Use the ballot insert to cast your vote. Deadline: April 15, 1985.

32

Fifty Years Ago in Alumnae News

CIV

Meeting the Needs of Handicapped Students

The idea seems simple enough: handicapped individuals should be able to pursue a college degree just like anyone else. But it took federal legislation to make sure that colleges, universities, and other institutions do not discriminate on the basis of handicap. In passing the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Congress made discrimination on the basis of physical or mental impairment by any federally assisted program unlawful. Section 504 of the act, finalized in 1977, states, "No otherwise qualified handicapped individual in the United States. . . shall, solely by reason of his handicap, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

The intent of Section 504 is to ensure that every individual, regardless of handicap, has the chance to develop toward his own potential. It is based on the conviction that such individuals are able and should be encouraged to perform effectively in all levels of life — and in the same settings as non-handicapped students. Handicapped persons should be given the opportunity to use their talents, express themselves creatively, earn academic degrees, and pursue rewarding careers. These goals are no less important to the handicapped person as the non-handicapped.

Although the idea is a simple one, implementation of Section 504 has not been easy. To colleges and universities, providing equal opportunities for handicapped persons requires specific action, such as removing architectural barriers or waiving certain regulations that limit the full participation of handicapped students. While compliance conjures up an image of dollar marks to institutional business officers, students and faculty soon realize that handicapped persons can be accommodated through some easily-executed, inexpensive ways such as rescheduling a class to a ground-floor location, repeating aloud what is written in the chalkboard, or arranging for a sign language interpreter in the classroom.

While colleges and universities must, under Section 504, make accommodations and adjustments for handicapped students, the entire burden for educational opportunity does not rest with the institution. Handicapped persons, in turn, have the obligation of "reasonable self-help" in seeking higher education. Section 504 guarantees the civil rights and educational opportunities of handicapped students, but makes clear that handicapped individuals are expected to assume equal responsibility in maximizing the learning experience.

Who is Handicapped?

That is a tough question until some definitions are explored. Mild to hot controversy rages among handicapped persons themselves as well as between professional groups regarding appropriate terminology.

The best line came from a UNC-G student who has cerebral palsy: "A handicap isn't a handicap unless the handicapped person lets it be a handicap."

Three terms are used in the field.

"Impaired" refers to individuals who have identifiable physical irregularities in the anatomical structure. These problems may range from missing body parts to dysfunctional organs. Some impairments are permanent and irreversible, such as a birth defect or an amputation. Some are temporary and can be corrected, such as a functional speech defect or certain movement deficiencies. A simple way to think about impairments is to consider them as eyes that cannot see, ears that cannot hear, or legs that cannot walk.

"Disabled" refers to individuals who have identifiable impairments and are therefore limited or restricted in performing certain functions in the course of daily living. For a disabled person, impairments may interfere with work or school unless compensating arrangements can be found. Disabilities may be mild or severe.

"Handicapped" refers to individuals who, because of the presence of impairments or disabilities, are adversely affected in some way, either psychologically, emotionally, or socially. To some, the term "handicapped" implies that the person allows an impairment or disabling condition to have a negative effect on the quality of life; that is, the individual makes little or no effort to use the remaining normal functions to continue the pursuit of a rewarding life. To others, it is the attitudes and actions of able-bodied persons that handicap a disabled person. "Society handicaps them because of the general perceptions of disability," explained Dr. Jesse Mann of UNC-G's therapeutic recreation program within the department of recreation and leisure studies. "In our work, we try to take the 'dis' out of 'disability.'"

Dr. Mann cautioned that the terms "impaired," "disabled," and "handicapped" are not synonymous and are not interchangeable. "Handicapped," he suggested, is a less stigmatizing term than "disabled" because the latter implies a lack of ability. "We should focus on intact, functional abilities that remain with an impaired person, not the disabling condition," he said.

UNC-G's Admissions Policy

While the familiar tag seen in UNC-G's publications would seem to focus on ethnic considerations, the rights of the handicapped are very much guaranteed, too:

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro is committed to equality of educational opportunity and does not discriminate against applicants, students, or employees based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, or handicap.

Federal law prohibits colleges and universities from making inquiries of applicants relating to the nature or extent of a handicap. Students are admitted to UNC-G on the basis of merit without regard to factors, such as a handicapping condition, that have no bearing on a student's academic potential. The presence of a disability need not be revealed at all during the admissions process unless the student wishes to do so. If provided, that information is not used in selecting or rejecting an applicant for admission.

After admission, all students receive a simple form, "the blue card," by which information regarding a handicap may be officially issued to the University. Voluntary self-identification is the sole means UNC-G relies upon in identifying handicapped students. This policy protects handicapped students who do not wish to be identified as such. Nonresponses do not jeopardize the institution's legal responsibility of equal opportunity.

The University reviews the blue cards well before the beginning of a new semester so that accommodations and adjustments may be prepared in advance.

This year, fifty-eight students have identified themselves as handicapped. Their impairments include cerebral palsy, epilepsy, blindness, osteogenesis, sarcoïdosis, hemophilia, deafness, and diabetes. Many have mobility handicaps resulting from birth defects, disease, or accidents. Six are confined to wheelchairs; two of these live on campus. Many handicapped students have multiple conditions which require more than one type of special service.

Most students are very independent in pursuing their academic goals. The same attendance standards and academic performance is expected of handicapped students as non-handicapped students, given individual accommodations and adjustments. The retention rate for handicapped students is high. Often, handicapped students are described as highly motivated in their studies, determined to succeed, and eager to take on responsibility for their lives despite impairments.

Handicapped Student Services

The Coordinator of Handicapped Student Services provides support services requested by any handicapped student. The Coordinator advises, assists, and facilitates handicapped students in making their experience at UNC-G more comfortable and convenient. Acting Coordinator, Dot Hartin Rhame '69 MED praises the "maximum cooperation found among the various units of the University in providing for the physical and academic needs of handicapped students."

Working with each individual, the coordinator matches appropriate services with particular needs as they are identified. For example, interpreters are made available to hearing impaired students, and readers are located for the blind and visually impaired. The coordinator assists in the ordering of recorded textbooks, arranges for the use of Jackson Library's Special Services Room, and assists in selecting convenient classroom locations for handicapped students. These services often make the difference in a handicapped student's initial decision to attend UNC-G and most certainly contribute to the student's success here, once enrolled.

The coordinator of Handicapped Student Services is concerned with educating the greater campus community on the needs of the handicapped in order to eliminate barriers — both physical and attitudinal — that stand in the way of personal success. The coordinator works with students, faculty, administrators, and parents in striving to maximize personal freedom and independence for handicapped students.

Housing

Residential facilities accessible to and equipped for handicapped students are available at no additional cost to the student. Phillips Hall for men and Hawkins Hall for women are barrier-free on the groundfloor living level and have restrooms that are specially designed for the handicapped.

Cotten Hall, an older residence hall on the Quad, was renovated last year and adapted for the handicapped. Modifications to the interior doors, bathrooms, and main entrance render Cotten highly accessible. The hall is now serving as the Graduate Center. Mary Foust Hall is also partially accessible to handicapped students.

Multi-million dollar renovations to other residence halls are creating excitement around campus as project dates near. Soon to begin is a complete overhaul of North and South Spencer Halls and, of course, modifications will be made for the handicapped. Major work inside and out, including air conditioning, will make the Spencer Halls more desirable to handicapped students because of their proximity to classroom buildings, the library, and Elliott University Center. Upon completion, South Spencer will return to its former status as a Graduate Center.

The Joe Illman Scholarship Fund

In the late 1970s, Joe Illman was a familiar fellow on campus, traveling around with his cane and joking about his eye glasses which, he described, "look like the bottoms of Coke bottles."

"He was the kind of person who taught us more than we could have taught him," recalls Dorothy Scott Darnell '44 of the UNC-G Academic Advising Office. Dorothy worked with Joe when he was a student here.

A 1979 magna cum laude graduate, Joe Illman suffered from a severe diabetic condition that caused him to become partially blind and, later, contributed to his death. Although he took a double major in math and economics, Joe coped with his handicap so successfully that he graduated with a 3.62 grade point average. He dealt with such concrete ideas as matrix theory and microeconomics, subjects in which visual representations are essential. But Joe could not see the chalkboard in class. He relied heavily upon tape recordings, readers, and large-print textbooks.

After Joe's death in 1980, his parents established the Joe Illman Scholarship Fund at UNC-G. It is awarded annually to physically handicapped students at the University on the basis of need and positive attitude. "The intent of the Joe Illman Scholarship Fund is to give emphasis to Joe's philosophy," reads the statement of establishment on file at the Student Aid Office. "Therefore, selection for this award will take into consideration motivation, determination, persistence, scholarship, and ingenious alternative means of problem solving."

The scholarship is given to a full-time physically handicapped student who has successfully completed at least one semester of academic work. The award is not restricted to any particular academic major. Recipients may apply for renewal provided that a 2.0 grade point average is maintained.

Toward a Barrier-Free Campus

Physical improvements to the UNC-G campus over the last few years have included both new construction and modifications to existing structures designed with the needs of handicapped individuals in mind. The campus is not barrier-free, however, but director of the physical plant, Davis Lumpkin, says we shall consider that as our ultimate goal. "We have made progress, and we have used the capital funding made available to us [by the state legislature] to good advantage," he explained. "Changes in the physical plant to accommodate handicapped students are costly, but little by little we are making improvements so that some day we shall have a barrier-free campus."

All structures that house academic, administrative, and auxiliary services are at least partially accessible except one. The Forney Building is inaccessible to mobility impaired individuals. Built in 1905 as a Carnegie Library, it now houses the Administrative Computer Center, the Personnel

Ramps are common "barrier-busters" on the UNC-G campus.

Office, and faculty offices.

Arrangements to make functions in Forney available to the mobility impaired are taken care of in other accessible buildings.

Some residence halls are inaccessible, particularly those in the Quad. Although other living quarters are available to handicapped students, the inaccessibility of residence halls thwarts visitation and social interaction.

Buildings constructed since the early 1970s reflect a greater sensitivity by their designers to the needs of handicapped students. Mossman Administrative Building, the Business & Economics Building, the Arts & Sciences Building and others have appropriate entrances, floorplans, and restroom facilities that meet federal guidelines required in accommodating the handicapped.

Older buildings, such as Curry, Aycock Auditorium, and the Student Health Center, have been architecturally modified for greater accessibility. Ramps and sidewalk grading have made the campus landscape easier to navigate. Sensitive planning of new services is evident; for example, a new postage machine installed in Elliott University Center in December was placed at a position low enough to be reached easily by a person in a wheelchair.

But there are other facilities that need improvement. One is the McIver Building, a major academic center where English, history, foreign language, art, and other classes are taught. It is doubtful that any student attending UNC-G since 1960 could have missed having had at least one class scheduled in McIver. Yet access to the second and third floors is by an elevator that, according to Mr. Lumpkin, was not designed for mass use.

Installed originally to transport equipment and supplies, the elevator control system cancels out some commands when new commands are given. For example, if a rider on the first floor presses the second floor button and then someone else presses the third floor button, the elevator will not stop on the second floor. A new control system would cost about $15,000 and involves other modifications that would bring the elevator up to the most recent code requirements.

Elliott University Center poses mobility problems as well. Although entrances have been modified, movement from one floor to another is difficult. The only elevator in the building is in the food service area.

Sensitivity to the needs of handicapped individuals is evident in the recently issued Master Plan, a report of the long range plan for the physical development of the campus. A result of an extensive study conducted by the University and John Carl Warnecke & Associates, architects and planning consultants, the sixty-page report addresses the future development of overall land use, circulation and parking, landscape and open space, buildings, and utilities. Accessibility is an important theme: seventy handicapped parking spaces are proposed, new landscaping is recommended that will accommodate wheelchair traffic, and renovations to existing structures include designs for restrooms and other facilities that are convenient for handicapped persons.

Special Services

Special Services, an academic program sponsored by the US Department of Education and UNC-G, offers individualized support for students with special needs in making adjustments to college life and in progressing successfully at UNC-G. Primarily created to assist first generation college students, the Special Services Program also serves handicapped students in close cooperation with the coordinator of Handicapped Student Services. Any handicapped student who identifies a particular need may request help from Special Services.

"We don't want our students just to survive at UNC-G," explained Gertrude Ross, director of the program, "we want them to strive for excellence."

Special Services offers to its participants a variety of extra helps to make academic life richer. Its staff serves as academic advisors, counselors, and instructors. Mathematics, reading, and writings specialists assist students in improving basic academic skills. Tutors and peer mentors are assigned for one-to-one instruction. A full-time counselor is available on a regular, daily basis. The reading lab offers self-paced instruction with drop-in scheduling; here a student may receive help on improving reading rate and comprehension, developing better study skills, and reducing stress over test-taking. Special equipment such as tape recorders and magnifiers are available to handicapped students. All of these services are offered at no charge to the student.

But while the services offered to the handicapped are excellent, the location of the program for access is poor. Special Services occupies the east groundfloor wing of Foust, a building that allows for only limited access. Although the first floor is accessible from a ramp at the back of the west wing, the entry to the main quarters of Special Services requires a three-step climb. The staff at Special Services must accommodate mobility impaired students at alternate locations. The only restroom facility on the first floor is non-public and is not accessible to all handicapped students because its door is too narrow to permit a wheelchair to pass through. The staff at Special Services has advocated improved accessibility, but because of design problems, no measures have been taken to make this primary support service more available to handicapped students.

Safe and Secure

UNC-G's Campus Security is on call twenty-four hours a day to meet any special needs of handicapped students.

The campus police honor handicapped license plates and placards anywhere on campus except in fire lanes. Tags must be applied for at a North Carolina License Plate Agency. Campus Security will issue a thirty-day permit to students who become temporarily impaired, as in the case of a broken leg; these individuals may park throughout the campus, and the permit may be renewed.

The campus police will escort handicapped students to and from classes on request. They are not equipped with a van that has a lift, however.

The Office for Handicapped Student Services provides Campus Security with a list of handicapped students, and they, in turn, supply the Greensboro Fire Department with the names of campus residents who are handicapped so that these students are easily located in an emergency.

Student Health Center

The Student Health Center, of course, provides basic medical care — both therapeutic and preventive — to all students at UNC-G. But because handicapped individuals may have more health problems than non-handicapped persons, the services of the Student Health Center are especially important to them. A ramp renders the building highly accessible to mobility impaired students.

Students with special medical conditions are encouraged to make their needs known to the Student Health Center so that appropriate services can be offered. In some cases, students are referred to off-campus specialists for treatment or therapy.

AHSA

Attendance was not good at the December meeting of the Association for Handicapped Student Awareness. Before calling the meeting to order, President Morris Miller and the few members present contemplated the problem and agreed that the time of year had much to do with the paltry showing; exams and Christmas were making their cuts into activities all over campus.

Otherwise, the meeting was productive. Faculty advisors were elected. The former coordinator of handicapped student services, Thelma Copeland, was presented with an award for her contribution to the organization. And a response to Student Government's Current Concerns Committee regarding architectural barriers was initiated.

The Association for Handicapped Student Awareness is a support group for handicapped students who attend UNC-G, although membership is not limited to the handicapped. Its purpose is to acquaint the University with the needs of the handicapped, to promote knowledge of the services available for handicapped students, to recruit resource persons who can serve handicapped students in special ways, and to explore means by which handicapped students can be more fully integrated into the educational process at UNC-G.

Although its goals are clear and worthy, the Association's organizational strength is now unstable. This fall the Association for Handicapped Student Awareness lost its Student Government recognition and is, therefore, ineligible to receive SG appropriations. Funds are not available for basics — photocopying and postage — much less for programs and events. With fewer activities, membership has dwindled.

But under President Morris Miller's leadership, the Association stays alive, fueled by the strong commitment to mainstreaming that he and other members feel. Morris sees that this commitment will spread, particularly among non-handicapped students, as an awareness of needs and services grows. The Association, he hopes, will find the fortification it needs to make it a centralized body for promoting mainstreaming in education at UNC-G.

And Morris Should Know

A cerebral palsy victim, Morris Miller began elementary school in a special facility for the handicapped in Virginia. "I didn't think that was fair," he explained during an interview between classes. "I think that if a person is able to attend a regular school, he should be allowed to do so. But the state didn't see it that way then. The state maintained that since special schools for the handicapped were available, then all handicapped people should attend them. I felt forced to go. Even at an early age, I felt that violated my right to a normal life."

But Morris and his family later moved to Tennessee, where state law already provided for public education for handicapped persons. Morris enrolled in Johnson County High School. His academic success was so remarkable that he finished high school in three years. "I was the first person ever to do that in my school," he said.

ASHA president Morris Miller '85 in the Academic Computer Center.

College followed high school graduation for Morris. He attended Middle Tennessee State, but then stopped out for a series of orthopedic operations. His family later moved to High Point, NC, and Morris enrolled at UNC-G in the adult student program. He is now a full-time, degree-seeking student hoping to graduate in December 1985. While pursuing a degree in business administration, Morris has concentrated in insurance. He plans to open an agency in the Piedmont region some day.

Cerebral palsy, he explained, is a birth defect. It is caused by damage to the cerebral hemisphere of the brain and results in a variety of physical and mental disorders. For Morris, CP affected his balance and leg strength, leaving him mobility impaired and dependent on crutches. CP is not progressive, so Morris stands a chance for an improved condition.

Twenty-four surgeries and constant physical therapy have given Morris the freedom to live a normal, rich life. He commutes from High Point to UNC-G in his own car. In addition to serving as president of the Association for Handicapped Student Awareness, he is an active member of the Triad Council of United Cerebral Palsy. These and other organizations give him a forum for voicing his position on mainstreaming.

Career Planning and Placement

The Career Planning and Placement Center is located on the second floor of Foust Building. Physically handicapped students can get into Foust by using a ramp in the back of the building, but since there is no elevator, they cannot reach the second floor.

Accessibility is a big problem, according to Dr. Richard Harwood, director of the Career Planning and Placement Center. Dr. Harwood is on the University's advisory panel for the needs of the handicapped and is a faculty advisor to the Association for Handicapped Student Awareness. In providing services for students with mobility impairments, arrangements may be made for staff members to go to the student when needed. Many workshops are held away from the Center's office in various buildings accessible to all students.

Special planning must be done for those physically handicapped students who wish to obtain materials from the Center. Some of those materials are on audio recordings, but there are none produced in Braille. While the Center has a valuable Career Library, accessibility limits its use by handicapped students.

Center for Educational Studies and Development

The primary function of the Center for Educational Studies and Development as it applies to handicapped students is one of consultation and assessment.

As is the case for any UNC-G student or prospective student, the Center makes educational evaluations upon request. In most instances, a student is referred by the Office of Academic Advising, but a student can come to the Center on his or her own for evaluation.

The staff at the Center conducts the necessary testing to determine the existence and/or extent of a learning disability or other exceptionality. After evaluation, the student is referred to Academic Advising, and it is determined there which strategies are needed to help the student cope with the exceptionality.

The Center is focused primarily to meet the needs of the community. It has worked with prospective UNC-G students to assess their skills and interests and to help them decide which course of study might be best to pursue.

Located in the Arts & Sciences Building, the Center is easily accessible and is thoroughly equipped for the handicapped. Several graduate students from the School of Education who are handicapped themselves provide services for the Center's clients.

Sight impaired graduate students have access to a Voltrax, a device that is used in conjunction with a computer. This machine has an electronic voice for those who cannot view the computer screen clearly. This is an invaluable tool to some students, especially in preparing reports.

Adaptive PE

Angela Smith '84, now a UNC-G graduate student, has taken PE 119 every semester and each summer session it has been offered while she's been at the University. Angela has cerebral palsy. She says that she and most handicapped students never know what it's like to be in a physical education class. Because Physical Education 119 is offered at UNC-G, handicapped students can have a PE course tailor-made to meet their particular needs.

Dr. William Karper, who coordinates the course, explains that PE 119 can be taken up to eight times for credit by handicapped students and then may be audited. Participation by the student must be approved by the Student Health Center and in some cases by the student's personal physician. A form is sent to Dr. Karper which details any restrictions the student must adhere to in the one-hour course.

The course is taught individually or in small groups by the physical education faculty, teaching assistants, and paid volunteers. Dr. Karper says they have had students participate in swimming, conditioning in the weight room, wheelchair training in the athletic training room, sailing, tennis, backpacking, scuba diving, bowling, aerobics, and self-defense. Dr. Karper also points out that UNC-G fulfills all federal mandates as they apply to physical education for the handicapped.

The course is offered each semester and one summer session. The accessibility of the present facilities does present some difficulties, but when the new PAC (Physical Activities Complex) is built it will be totally accessible to the handicapped and will meet all federal guidelines for such a building.

Angela Smith has taken PE 119 more times than any other UNC-G student. Angela has been involved in weight-lifting, scuba diving, and her favorite sport, swimming.

Presently, she swims three times a week under the supervision of her instructor, George Lottes. He's the one who helped her get over her fear of the water and taught her how to swim. Each student in 119 must set reasonable goals. Angela started swimming in a life vest, and in three weeks it was off. She's worked up to eighteen laps and says that the backstroke is her personal favorite.

Angela emphasizes her appreciation in having a chance to participate in a sport and to find out that she can achieve her goals. She also says exercising is important to her health and has helped her balance, flexibility, strength, and self-esteem.

Barrier-Busters

The UNC-G Speech and Hearing Center offers many interesting services but perhaps its most dynamic is the use of its Express 3 Evaluation Unit. This device is one of only two fully equipped evaluation systems of its kind in the state. The unit is used to ascertain if electronic communication devices would be able to help those who can't talk.

The Express 3 is a self-contained device that produces language, either in print or speech, when a person activates a keyboard with letters, numbers, and other symbols.

Dr. Mariana Newton, director of the UNC-G Speech and Hearing Center, said that space-age technology has made much of the new equipment for working with the speech and hearing impaired possible.

At UNC-G, a student may be "fitted" with a synthesizer device.

These mechanisms are barrier-busters because they enable students to communicate with others. They can even be programmed in advance with a message a person wants heard.

In addition to the work done in the Center's Augmentative Systems Lab — where faculty and graduate students work with speech synthesizers and other devices for special problems — UNC-G students with speech, language, voice, and/or hearing problems come to the Center to be tested, to be evaluated, and to receive therapy.

If therapy is needed, a student enrolls in the department's course COM 219, Communication Disorders Laboratory. The student works two to three hours a week, one-on-one with a graduate student who is under the supervision of the Center's faculty.

The student can take COM 219 twice for credit and may continue if appropriate progress is being made. This course is tailor-made to meet the individual needs of the student. It covers a wide range of impairments and is available to those students who speak English as a foreign language.

The Center has the facilities to measure hearing and then see that the student gets proper help. That may be special aids in the classroom such as, interpreters, Dean of Students Cliff Lowery '78 EdD demonstrates the Ampli-Sound system in Aycock Auditorium. The device, a gift of the Greensboro Lions Club, broadcasts live programs on a frequency received by hearing impaired patrons on their portable radios.

Dr. David Yoder and Dr. Mariana Newton with Dennis Burgess '86 at a computer orientation session. Dr. Yoder is a leading expert on augmentative communications systems and a visiting distinguished professor at UNC-G from the University of Wisconsin. Dennis is a junior sociology major. His synthesizer device is mounted on a swing arm table (foreground). In this session, he was learning to use a computer that will enable him to produce written communication.

note-takers, and/or amplification devices. Recommendations for surgery have been made based on the Center's evaluations.

Working with students who may have problems with stuttering, articulation difficulties, or who need special help before starting their student teaching are all services of the Center. Many of the Center's services are not available at other schools.

Dr. Newton said that the Center produced a film a few years ago which helps faculty learn how to teach the hearing impaired. She said that the University's faculty is very willing to work with the Speech and Hearing Center's staff on a one-to-one basis when they have a student with a speech, language or hearing impairment. This helps the faculty member determine what problems a student may have in their class and how to overcome them.

Libraries Are For Everyone

But they may pose special problems for students with physical handicaps.

The first problem for mobility impaired individuals is access. At UNC-G's Jackson Library, handicapped students enter a ground-floor door from a ramp that adjoins specially-designated parking spaces. A buzzer summons circulation desk personnel to the door when it is locked. Once inside, a student has direct access to the tower elevators, photocopying equipment, restrooms, and telephones, as well as the Special Services Room.

The Special Services Room is a godsend for handicapped students because it houses equipment and materials that help make academic studies easier. Work tables are specially designed to accommodate wheelchairs. A large print typewriter is available to the visually impaired. A house telephone gives students direct communication to Circulation, Reference, Reserves, and Serials. Keys to the Special Services Room are issued through the coordinator of Handicapped Student Services.

Library personnel are available for assistance in locating and retrieving books and periodicals, answering reference questions, and obtaining reserve materials. Personal attention is more likely to be available if a student first makes an appointment through the Office for Handicapped Student Services for library assistance.

Also located in the Special Services Room is a Visualtek Low Vision Aid, an electronic device that can magnify printed materials from four to forty-five times its original size. The user adjusts the size, focus, and contrast of the material on a screen that looks much like a television. In addition, the user may view the material as a positive (black print on a white background) or as a negative (white print on a black background).

Elsewhere in Jackson Library are spoken word recordings, large print materials (including the large print edition of the New York Times), a Braille dictionary, and a hand-held magnifier.

"Sight Unseen"

By turning the radio dial to 106.1 FM on Saturday and Sunday mornings, blind and visually impaired students can hear a program produced especially for them.

"Sight Unseen" is a fifteen minute radio program produced by WUAG, the University's radio station.

Initial funding for the project came from the Greensboro Lions and Glenwood Lady Lions Clubs.

Ella Smith '86 is program coordinator for the show and says that it has been on the air since 1983. The show is done in a magazine format offering tidbits of information concerning on- and off-campus events of particular interest to the visually impaired.

Also, interviews are scheduled with people from various agencies who describe the services available and with blind or visually impaired individuals who are involved in unique jobs, hobbies or events.

Closed Captions for the Hearing Impaired

You may have seen the "(CC)" symbol next to certain program listings in television guides. The mark stands for "closed captions" and indicates the broadcasts for which written captions are available for the hearing impaired. The captions appear on the television screen much like subtitles on foreign films, but viewers cannot see them unless a special decoding mechanism is attached to the television set. The print appears as white lettering on a black band at the bottom of the screen. It is timed to match the spoken word, although the translation may not be literal.

A television set with a telecaption adapter is available by reservation at Elliott University Center. The portable unit may be placed in any room in EUC and may serve one viewer or a group of up to twenty or so. Requests for the unit and for viewing space are made at the reservations desk.

Captions for the hearing impaired may be added to videotapes produced on campus with a character generator located in the television studio in the Learning Resources Center. After production, the television engineer types in appropriate printed material to appear on the screen. These captions are "open captions" that appear any time the videotape is played. A decoder is not needed for use.

Victoria Vaughn is Totally Blind

Anything else that describes Vickie shows her to be a typical UNC-G student. She is a sophomore history major from Pittsburgh, PA. Living in the Residential College, she has a second floor room in Mary Foust Hall. She is the recipient of the James and Frances F. Ferguson Scholarship, one of UNC-G's competitive awards. And she picks the guitar a little when she has the time.

But Vickie's time is precious these days. Because she must depend on others to read her textbook assignments, handouts, and notes, she estimates that it takes her two to three times longer to accomplish the same amount of studying as a sighted student.

Vickie is accustomed to that, however. She has attended public schools with sighted students during most of her formal education. Upon graduation from high school, she chose UNC-G from among many colleges, partly because of the Residential College program. "It's very unique," Vickie explained in her room one night just before exams last semester. "RC's big thing is, 'Are you torn between a large university and a small college? RC fits the bill for both.' Since everybody in RC takes some courses together right here, we get to know each other quite well. And we tend to stick together a bit. We do a lot of things together, so we're really close."

When Vickie came to Greensboro in August 1983, her first priority was to learn the campus. With her guide dog Zilla, her mother, and her mobility teacher, Vickie walked the campus and used a mental grid system to memorize the locations of buildings and their floorplans.

"I was learning my way to the dining hall," she recalled, "and there were some bushes hanging over the sidewalk. If Zilla took me around them, then I would end up practically in the street. My mother asked the campus grounds department if there was a chance the bushes could be trimmed. The next day, they were gone. I couldn't believe the response was so immediate."

Getting around on campus poses no problem for Vickie and Zilla now. "Except for the library," she explained. "It's hard to tell when to turn into the front door because there are no landmarks. . . . But the best thing about the library is that its elevators are marked in Braille. That's really useful. It's the only building on campus that has Braille."

Vickie was a cane traveler for ten years until she applied for a Seeing Eye Dog. Zilla is a golden labrador retriever who accompanies Vickie in harness everywhere she goes. Zilla lives in Mary Foust Hall and goes to all of Vickie's classes, although the dog earns no degree credit.

"If you've ever seen us on campus, you'll notice that we travel about twice as fast as anyone else. That's so we'll have no time to be distracted; I must be paying attention and feel Zilla's movements through the harness, then praise her for doing well."

The cause of Vickie's blindness is an unfortunate story. At age nine, a routine test was performed to detect a rare virus. But a fluke reaction to the test — not the virus — left Vickie instantly blind. The odds of this happening, according to her doctors, is one in ten million.

The interview with Vickie was interrupted by an electronic voice announcing the time. "Oh, that's Sam," Vickie explained, taking from her bedside table a device about the size of a deck of cards. "Sam tells me the hour and half hour and wakes me up every day. He'll also tell me the time anytime I want to know it." With that, Vickie called on Sam to perform. Zilla rolled her eyes and went back to sleep under Vickie's bed.

Vickie Vaughn '87 and her guide dog, Zilla, nosing around the second floor of Mary Foust Hall where they live.

The Centenary Project

Mozelle Olive Smith Remembers

by Dr. Richard Bardolph

When the recent passing of Mozelle Olive Smith '08, one of our most senior alumnae, was noted in our last issue, the item reminded me that she was one of the growing number of former students who have afforded us the privilege of making taped interviews for University Archives, where we are assembling the historical data with a view to celebrating the institution's forthcoming hundredth birthday. It occurred to me that a condensed transcript of one of these conversations would be a fitting subject for a Centenary Project article.

Space limitations have prompted me to omit the questions I put to Mozelle as well as my own remarks during our discussion, so that what follows is, for the most part, in her own words. I did some editing for the sake of brevity and clarity, and have in some cases changed the order in which some of the ideas occurred to her, because I had in fact encouraged her to say whatever came to mind without regard to sequence. I assumed that the reader could infer my questions from the answers, and would approve the editorial liberties I have taken, upon my pledge that I had taken considerable pains to preserve the sense of what she said. What follows is, then, a conscientious rendering of the first hour of the session I had with Mrs. Smith.

I should add that her son, Col. Ervin Smith, Jr., also sat with us and corroborated and amplified his mother's observations. I have chosen not to use quotation marks because I do not wish to indicate that the transcript is literally verbatim. The tape was made in the living room of Mozelle's home at 715 Walker Avenue, where she had lived, within sight of the campus, for about eighty of her then ninety-three years. The house was built just three years after the campus was initiated. We now let Mozelle speak for herself:

I was a member of the class of 1908, but I began my campus career at the Normal when I was seven years old, in the Practice School, [later to be known as Curry]. I entered at the third grade, and had not attended school before that. My mother taught me to read, and I was reading in Holmes' Sixth Reader by that time. I remember that Dr. P. P. Claxton, principal of the school, [and later an educational leader of national prominence], took me up on his lap and opened the book, and was amazed that I could read it. Mama had not taught me arithmetic, however. She did not believe in very young children going to school. Yes, there was an elementary school in the city, under Dr. Grimsley, but I don't think it was called a public school. So I began in the third grade on the College campus, in the old wooden building over there [officially later called Old Guilford, but sometimes known as "Midway"] which stood next to Dr. McIver's house and across College Drive from Main [now Foust] Building. There was one other structure, the Brick Dormitory which burned down [in 1904]. It burned in the early morning of January 20, while I was here in this house.

Governor Jim Hunt's grandfather, Mr. Will Hunt, lived down the street and contracted to build this house. Papa sent to Goldsboro and got the heart pine to build the house, because he didn't want field pine. He had the house built in 1895.

Except during the few years when I was married, I have lived in this house since I was a very young child. I married Ervin Smith, the youngest brother of Dr. W. C. Smith, who was dean of the College. My husband was with the American Exchange Bank at Elm and Market, but he died in 1920. At that time my younger boy was three and the older one eight, and I was only thirty-two. My husband and I had built a home on North Elm Street, but when Ervin died I came back to this house with my boys to live with my father, J. C. Olive.

Soon after that, Mr. Frederick Archer, our superintendent of schools, came to our door and rang the bell and said one of his teachers had died, and would I come. I did, but after two weeks of teaching I lost my voice. I had fifty-six children in my classroom at the McIver School. I carried that many most of the time that I taught in Greensboro. (I had taught for a short while, years before, in 1908, when I left college, and before my marriage.) I always had a room full of children and never had any trouble with discipline. So they just kept giving them to me. I tried to resign when I had lost my voice after that first two weeks, but Mr. Archer said, "You wouldn't leave me in the lurch, would you?" Of course I said no, so I stayed, and taught for fifty years.

I was not born in Greensboro but in Wake County on my grandfather's farm. I was eight years old when we moved to Greensboro. My father went into the wholesale grocery business. In those days they had chicken coops in front of the stores; you wouldn't think of buying a dead chicken.

At that time I entered the third grade at the State Normal and Industrial College, and moved up the grades through the seventh. Charlie McIver, Dr. McIver's son, was in my class, and Edna Forney, my lifelong friend, was a year younger than me. I took care of my mother in this house until her death just before her ninety-fifth birthday. We moved into the house in 1896. I left college with the class of 1908, and after teaching a short while I married; and, as I said, Ervin and I lived in our own house on Elm Street until he died in 1920. Then I came back to this house with my two boys, to live with my parents. In the fall after I left college, I had taught for awhile in the Pomona Mill community. We would take the streetcar most of the way and then continue on foot to the textile plant, where they had a little school that I served as principal and teacher. Before long, however, that mill failed and the school was closed down.

In my last year in college I was proud to be the Chief Marshal of the Class of 1908, but I did not graduate with the class, partly because I could not meet the music requirements that future teachers had to attain. I had no aptitude for music; to please my father I took music instruction, but just was not up to it. So I finished without a degree and still lacking a few of the other necessary credits. Long afterwards, when I had been a widow and teacher for twenty years, I formally took my degree with the class of 1940, after working off a new schedule of newer requirements. Dr. Jackson was amused at my determination to take the degree, and when I finally succeeded, he said that I didn't look a bit different. I told him, though, that my ego had grown considerably.

As I said, I eventually taught for fifty years. Superintendent Archer's wife had been in the college ahead of me; both of them knew me well, and it was they who managed to arrange a temporary A certificate for me, but I was required to go to the courthouse to take an examination in Davis's Modern Methods of Teaching. People who had degrees did not have to take this exam. When I took it, I knew the book by heart. . . . So the next time I saw Dr. Foust's brother, Tom [who was superintendent at the time] he said, "Do you know who made the highest score of all that crowd in the courthouse?" I said, "I should have, because of my training at the College." I had scored number one and cleared my certificate.

Later, to advance my training, I went, as so many of the Normal graduates did, to Columbia University in New York in the summer. The famous William Heard Kilpatrick didn't want to let me into his class because I didn't have a degree. So I had to do some talking and told him that teaching was a profession with me, and not just a stepping stone. I said I wanted to educate my two children, and needed that methods course badly. So he took me in.

At first I taught the fourth grade. Those sweet little fourth-graders thought you hung the moon, but by the time they were in the sixth grade they'd like to hang you. During the Depression I was sent to the Central School under Luther Medlin and stayed there for seventeen years. My sister, Corday Olive (Mrs. H. L.) Koontz '06x, was also trained at the State Normal and was a principal at McIver School for eight years. By the way, my husband and I had been the first couple to be married in the new Baptist Church on West Market Street. It has since been torn down. I have been a member of First Baptist since I was eleven and am now the oldest active member.

I did not go to high school, but like so many others I took the prep program at the Normal instead. When I went into the entering college class I was one of thirteen who passed the arithmetic exam. Nearly three hundred candidates failed and had to take the course under Miss Hackney [later Mrs. David White]. I passed off every sub-freshman subject except English. They said I could always pick the right answers, but I couldn't cite the rules. I had never been taught to memorize rules. But I had come up through Curry, and had been brought up in a home where my parents were fairly well educated, and my mother was a teacher. Curry had no high school grades then, but just went through the seventh grade. From there one could go either to the high school way up on Lindsay Street, or one could go into the College and then take whatever prep courses one needed to get into the regular college program. I was about fourteen at the time, but had been on the campus from the third grade on. It was not named Curry until later when the Practice School moved on Spring Garden Street.

Education had not taken hold in North Carolina. That is one reason Dr. McIver was so intent. Catherine Nash, his sister-in-law, told me she really thought Dr. McIver didn't want the girls to get married. He did everything to discourage it, she said, and wanted them to go into teaching, to combat the ignorance in North Carolina. So you took the pledge to teach. My father wanted me to go into music, but I had no taste for it, and he wasted money trying to realize his hopes for me.

As a student living at home I missed something of the College's atmosphere. Actually, we students thought of Dr. McIver as a dogmatic old soul, though I know he was only in his early forties. One day I sat on the steps of the Main Building with two of my friends, waiting for the bookstore, in the basement, to open. We heard somebody approach, and because sitting on those steps was strictly against the rules, my friends jumped up but I stayed put. It turned out to be Dr. McIver, and he commanded us to come to his office the next day. When we got there my friends stubbornly refused to confess. One of them boldly sat on the office's window sill and Dr. McIver ordered her sharply to get up out of that window. As my punishment he made me write eighty-five copies of the "contract" [a form that entering students were required to fill out when they matriculated, and in which they pledged to conform to the rules]. They were about a full page in length. I spent hours writing out all those copies, but because I had left out the word "Industrial" from the school's name he made me write all of them over again. Actually, I despised the man, but I always honored him for his famous line about educating a woman to educate a family.

The only A's I made in college were in art; I didn't like music, but I loved art. Later when I was teaching at Central School I took art classes with Mr. Ivy. He was a truly great artist; I loved everything that he did. I took those classes long after I became a regular teacher, and I used my art a great deal in my teaching. I would make chalk murals and encourage the children to work with me. At the Brightwood School, where one of my colleagues taught the music and I the art work, the superintendent said he had never seen such a change in a single year as when those Normal School girls got out there.

Most of the students were preparing to teach, but not all. There really weren't many other things available to a girl. My father thought it was terrible for a woman to go into a man's office and stay there with him all day so he'd be with her more than with his wife. Papa said that wasn't good for girls; he had a horror of his daughters doing anything but teaching.

"So I began in the third grade on the College campus, in the old wooden building . . ." officially named Guilford but more affectionately known as Midway after the famous section of the 1893 Columbia Exposition in Chicago. The building was razed in 1935 to make way for the Alumni House on that site.

I stopped teaching, of course, when I married, but when my husband died I returned to teaching and made a life work of it. Ervin had never been sick a day in his life. He had not even had the childhood diseases, so he had developed no immunities. He came home from the bank one day during the 1920 flu epidemic [which was exceptionally severe in Greensboro, like the one in 1918] feeling unwell, and in a few days he was gone. I believe I am now the oldest surviving alumna of the old Practice School at the Normal. My hearing is poor now, but with my magnifying glass I still enjoy reading my magazines. My father always felt that the education at the Normal was just the very best, so Dr. McIver must have been doing a fine job. The practice school principal, Dr. P. P. Claxton, went on to become the Commissioner of Education of the United States.

For the first ten years in this house, and until I finished college, we had only kerosene lights to study by. I had the job of trimming the wicks and refilling the oil. Most of my classes were in Main, but there were some in the Old Guilford Dormitory, which served for several years as the Practice School. It stood next to

Dr. McIver's house, approximately on the present site of the Alumni House. But by the time I was in the seventh grade the school was in a new brick building on Walker Avenue.

Dr. Jackson had been a high school principal before he came to the college in 1909. He was a marvelous teacher. The students loved him, but I don't think they really loved Dr. McIver. He was a hard-driving man; he could not stand any resistance, and he was fiercely proud of his college. He kept wanting us to say that if there had been no Normal we could not have gone to college. I told him that I would have gone to Meredith and, as a boarding student, would have been happier there. He didn't like that kind of talk. Really, students did not feel warm toward him. So much that when a movement was launched to rename the school McIver College, they simply balked and said no. McIver was fond of making chapel talks, you know, but often had to delegate the job because he was in Raleigh quite a bit, pulling for things down there.

I truly did love that College. I was made the chairman of the Old Guard for a time. I loved the School. I don't say that I had a bitter feeling toward Dr. McIver, but I could have done without him. Now, Mr. Jackson, there was a great and beloved teacher!

ON CAMPUS

Home Economics Alumni Seminar

It was 1960. Naomi Albanese, then dean of the School of Home Economics at UNC-G, wanted to find a way to entice home economics alumni back to campus. They would be impressed, she was sure, with the strides made within the School. But as recent graduates still in their professional zenith, they would want to learn things in their field that could be used back at the job.

Thus the Home Economics Alumni Seminar was born. It became a two-day biennial event that has grown and flexed to meet the needs of an ever-expanding alumni group.

The range of topics over the thirteen seminars held to date have been rich and current. In 1962, the theme was, "The World That Is Facing Women Today," and in 1964, "Opportunities and Responsibilities of American Women in Today's World." The seminar's planners always went after vital issues of the day. Such was the case again in 1972 when the theme, "The Age of Involvement," included topics on politics, women's rights, and abortion. In 1974, a scientist from NASA came to speak on "The Home Economist of Tomorrow." In 1978, the concern was for "The Quality of Life in the Year 2000." And in 1982 the seminar caught its breath and took stock of itself with a special reunion.

The 1984 theme, "Accepting, Anticipating, and Designing the Future," offered sessions on how to develop a professional image, as well as updates in the home economics professions.

This year's keynote speaker, Adeline Shell '84 PhD, spoke on "Change . . . To Strengthen the Power of the Home Economics Profession." Dr. Shell is a former director of the Bureau of Consumer Services and Consumer Education for the City of New York's Department of Consumer Affairs. She is also a prolific writer of books on food and has appeared on television and radio shows, speaking on consumer and food issues.

Also featured during the 1984 seminar was Mr. Art Neiman, a consultant for Scholastic Magazines, Inc. His topic, "How to Organize an Effective Public Relations Program," was presented in the Alumni House.

Additional seminar sessions were conducted on "Developing the Public You," "Time Management for Professionals," and "Prime Time Research," which highlighted current home economics research being conducted across the state.

This year, eight continuing education units were offered by the American Dietetic Association and one from UNC-G. Besides the opportunity for credit, the seminar gave alumni of the School of Home Economics a chance to learn what is happening in the School's five departments and to catch up with old classmates. The School and its current students gained from alumni experience on such matters as curriculum.

Gladys Strawn Bullard '39 is the 1984 recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award.

Distinguished Alumni Day was held on October 4, 1984, just prior to the seminar dates. Dean Jacqueline Voss recognized past recipients of the Distinguished Alumni Award at a luncheon held in their honor. The honored guests met the department chairs, the student presidents of each department, and other student representatives.

The 1984 recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award is Gladys Strawn Bullard '39. Gladys received the award for her record of service and accomplishments since her graduation. She is currently both a homemaker and vice president of Bern Bullard Industries of Raleigh. She has been a teacher, a dairy marketing specialist, a school lunch supervisor with the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, and a nutritionist with the State Board of Health. In 1976, she received an Alumni Service

The following alumni are past recipients of the Distinguished Home Economics Alumni Award. A plaque bearing their names is displayed in the front entrance of the Stone Home Economics Building.

1960 Sydney Ann Tootly Buchmann '42
1962 Reva Mitchell '32
1964 Sue Ramsey S. Ferguson '18,
Deceased
1966 Rita Dubois Fitzgerald '41
1968 Elizabeth Hathaway '25
1970 Carolyn Crouse Register '55
1972 Geraldine Lawrence Cox '41
1974 S. Virginia Wilson '25
1976 Rebecca McCulloch Smith '47
1978 Barbara Davis Tucker '59
1980 Isabel Moseley Fletcher '37
1982 Rachel Fesmire '65
1984 Gladys Strawn Bullard '39

See Home Economics, p. 30

A Tradition of Excellence

by Ty Buckner

Sports Information Director

Times have changed, but the winning tradition continues.

The women's intercollegiate athletics program, founded as a part of the total educational experience at UNC-G, is thriving today under similar philosophies.

Women's teams compete in basketball, volleyball, tennis, and softball, and are affiliated with the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and Division III of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). In Division III, student-athletes do not receive financial aid on the basis of athletic skill; no athletic scholarships are given at UNC-G.

From its beginning in 1962 when basketball was introduced, the women's intercollegiate athletics program has succeeded with strong leadership and a commitment to the student-athlete concept. This success has come during an era of rapid development in women's college athletics.

"We have a model to follow. UNC-G has always employed quality coaches and believed strongly that athletes should be students first," said Nelson Bobb, director of athletics. "Our success, of which we are very proud, has followed from the commitment by the administration to a quality athletic program."

The growth of intercollegiate athletics for women students at UNC-G has aligned with national trends. In the early part of this century, colleges and universities held "Play Days" in which students competed in various physical activities in order to maintain good health. The Play Day concept — similar to intramurals of today — was promoted here by Mary Channing Coleman, head of the physical education department from 1920-1947.

The Athletic Association, originated in 1900, and the Recreation Association, begun in 1940, sponsored athletic competition for students on campus. The purpose of those organizations, which were outgrowths of the physical education department, was to provide physical activity for as many students as possible. "Extramural" competition between colleges did not evolve until the 1940s, at which time the first national championship tournaments began.

As intercollegiate athletics for women became more widely accepted, the Woman's College developed its program into one of the best in North Carolina and took a leadership role in organizational efforts in the state, in the region, and in the nation.

The first women's basketball team at the Woman's College was a winner. Coached by Ellen Griffin '40, a physical education instructor, the team won three of the four games it played during the winter of 1962-1963. Dr. June Galloway '59 MEd succeeded Miss Griffin in the mid-1960s and directed the basketball team to more winning seasons and, in 1971, a fourth place finish in a national tournament.

The golf team recorded UNC-G's first national championship by winning the national collegiate tournament in 1973. Future professional golfer Donna Horton White '76x was among the members of that team.

See Sports, p. 30

UNC-G coaches Tere Dail and Lynn Agee.

Class notes are based on information received by letter and news clippings. Material received prior to February 25, 1985, will appear in the spring issue. Information received after the deadline will appear in the summer issue.

The Tens

Attending the Historical Book Club of North Carolina's 37th Annual Meeting on Books were Clara Booth Byrd '13, who is considered the mother of the Historical Book Club, and new members, Joyce Carpenter Kiser '53C and Anne Wrenn Russell '56x. □ Katherine Robinson Everett '13 was one of five people given Distinguished Alumnus Awards by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill during University Day activities in October.

Virginia Rodwell Walters '17 was honored at a special service at the Ridgecrest Baptist Church in Ridgecrest. She received a certificate awarded by the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Lexington, KY, for recognition of a Biblical translation she had completed. For the last two years Virginia has worked on a translation of the Greek New Testament into English. After graduation from the Woman's College she taught French and English at high schools in Plymouth and Selma. In 1919, she went to the seminary in Louisville and studied there until 1923 when she was awarded a certificate (women were not permitted to graduate from there at the time). While there, she studied Greek under Dr. A. T. Robertson, a world renowned Greek scholar. She was the first woman to complete his course. Virginia celebrated her 90th birthday in January. □ Eva Coates Parker '19 has moved to the Methodist Home in Durham.

The Twenties

Terrine Holleman Woodlief '20 was named Citizen of the Year by the Cary Chamber of Commerce. Terrine taught school all over North Carolina until she retired in 1962. She then returned to her childhood home of Cary where she helped found a local garden club and the XYZ (Extra Years of Zest) Club. She is active in the Daughters of the American Revolution, the First United Methodist Church and was a driving force in the effort to bring a library to Cary.

Edna Bell Sittler '24 has written the Alumni Office to say that on her husband's eighty-fifth birthday their son gave them two airline tickets to anywhere in the United States. In October they enjoyed a trip to Los Angeles. □ Oliver Webb Wharton '24 is retired and lives in Greensboro.

The past year of 1984 has many memories for Elsie Brame Hunt '26. Some are sorrowful, like the extensive damage done to the home she and her husband brought their family up in. Also there was the loss of her son's bid for the U.S. Senate seat and her on-going battle to preserve her eyesight. But, on the other side, she and her husband celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in August. In September they moved out of a mobile home back into their rebuilt and newly decorated home. She had hoped to attend the launching of the Elizabeth II but could not. At the festivities, son Jim Hunt, NC governor, told Princess Anne of Great Britain how much she enjoyed the works of James Herriot. Upon her return to England the Princess had tapes of those books sent to Elsie so she can continue to enjoy them.

Opal Brown Mizelle '28 has written to tell us that she keeps busy with activities in and around Norfolk. She has been traveling to Austin, TX, as often as possible to spend time with her son, Robert Lee, Jr., his wife, Janice, and their three children.

SYMPATHY is extended to Mabel Stamper Hallenbeck '22 and Ina Stamper Smith '28 on the death of their brother on November 5, 1984, and to Rachel Grimsley Cox '25 and Eleanor Grimsley Jamieson '37x on the death of their brother.

1930

GREEN
REUNION 1985

SYMPATHY is extended to Ruth Sikes Agnelly whose husband, Roger, died on November 11, 1984.

1931

RED
REUNION 1986

Ethel Frances Shearon is living in Southern Pines.

1932

LAVENDER
REUNION 1987

SYMPATHY is extended to Inez Trogdon Hussey, whose sister died on November 18, 1984.

1933

BLUE
REUNION 1988

Dell Hovis Rudisill has a new address in Gastonia.

1934

GREEN
REUNION 1989

The University has received a gift of $10,000 from the family of the late Bernice Love Stadiem to establish an endowed scholarship fund in her memory. Ms. Stadiem was the director of the reading clinic for UNC-G's special services project from 1973-79 and was an assistant in the reading clinic from 1963-73. Earlier she had taught at High Point and Greensboro High Schools. The scholarships will be awarded to undergraduates who have chosen majors in the liberal arts. The first recipient is Lori Jan Sonoski, a sophomore English major.

SYMPATHY is extended to Mary Sherwin Spillman, Dorothy Sherwin Brown '37, Helen Sherwin Yu '41 and Hilda Sherwin '49, whose brother died on October 17, 1984.

1935

RED
REUNION 1985

Katherine Cagle Barnes has recently moved to Mt. Holly.

1936

LAVENDER
REUNION 1986

Bishop W. Kenneth Goodson, bishop-in-residence at Duke University, is the husband of Martha Ann Ogburn Goodson. They were on hand at a welcome service for Bishop C. P. Minnick, Jr., who is the new leader for Methodists in fifty-six eastern North Carolina counties. □ Eloise Taylor Robinson has written to tell us her granddaughter, Leslie, entered UNC-G this fall. She is the fourth generation in her family to attend the University.

1937

BLUE
REUNION 1987

Helen Stuart Small lives in Bradenton, FL.

1939

RED
REUNION 1989

In September, Lucile Bethea Whedbee was elected to a second term as chairwoman of the Alumni Annual Giving Council at the University. Charles Houska '77 was elected vice chairman. During Lucile's first year the University Annual Giving Program received $319,170 in contributions from 8,155 donors. Of that, $239,147 were unrestricted gifts. Lucile has served as a member of the UNC-G Annual Giving Council since 1981.

1940

LAVENDER
REUNION 1985

At the October observance of Daniel Boone's 250th birthday, Louise Meroney Chatfield was on hand to take people on two rambles (a leisurely paced walk). She pointed out two giant trees that were big trees when Boone was a boy and a spring that he drank from. Louise has been instrumental in the development of hiking trails in North Carolina. Her current projects include establishing a Mountains to the Sea Trail and a Daniel Boone Trail. □ Elizabeth Holmes Dailey was invited to attend the inauguration of Dr. P. Michael Timpane as President of Teachers College, Columbia University.

The branches of the Revolutionary Oak sheltered the common grave of thirteen American and British soldiers who died from wounds suffered at the Battle of Guilford Courthouse. The tree was approximately 450 years old, named to the Hall of Fame for Trees and was noted as one of the eight most historical trees in the United States. It stood until 1959 when Hurricane Gracie felled it. Members of the Rachel Caldwell Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a commemorative service and marked the erection of a granite base for the bronze marker originally placed there as it began the chapter's 25th year. Emma Sharpe Avery Jeffress presided over the ceremony for the tree and the chapter's 50th anniversary. Emma's husband, Carl, was presented the Greensboro Area Chamber of Commerce's Edward R. Murrow

Award for journalistic excellence during a career as a reporter.

Helen Howerton Lineberry's husband, Albert, won one of three seats in North Carolina's House District 27.

1940 Commercial

LAVENDER
REUNION 1985

SYMPATHY is extended to Frances Sutton Carr on the death of her mother.

1941

BLUE
REUNION 1986

Thelma Osborne Gray has moved to Houston, TX. □ Martha Redding Mendenhall has written to say that she finally made it to Cambridge University in England last summer to study Shakespeare. Then it was off to Greece. Further, she writes, Vallie Anderson Brown traveled in Europe in 1984 with her husband, Arthur, who was a P.O.W. after the Battle of the Bulge in WWII. Betty Burke May is working for one of her five sons. Ruth Crouch has partially retired as co-owner of the advertising agency Morphis and Friends in Winston-Salem.

Irene Parsons has been inducted into the Bravard College Hall of Fame. She has received national recognition for her outstanding career in government. She was an officer in the Coast Guard in Washington, D.C. during World War II. Later she was a placement officer for the Veterans Administration. President Johnson appointed her assistant administrator and director of personnel for the Veterans Administration in 1965. She is the only woman to hold the position. She is now a management consultant in Washington, D.C. She has received many awards including: the Outstanding Woman in Federal Government in 1966, the AMVETS Civil Servant of the Year Award in 1971, the National Civil Service League Award in 1972 and in 1974, and the Distinguished Career Award by the Veterans Administration. She was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the University.

1942

GREEN
REUNION 1987

Charlotte Moseley Girhard has written to say that she and Frances Henning Croom got together in October at the Croom home in Brooksville, FL. Their special reunion took place after thirty-eight years apart. The reunion report is, "There were no problems in picking up where we left off. Fortunately for all four people involved, husbands Bill Croom and Charlie Girhard hit it off well, too, and found things to do while we were busy remembering when." Charlotte now lives in Severna Park, MD. In 1940-41 these gals were junior year roommates in Bailey, which at the time was a freshman dorm.

In June of 1984 Elizabeth Burroughs Scott and her husband retired from the American University of Beirut in Lebanon after thirty-eight years of an "exciting life" in the Middle East. They are now living in Gettysburg, PA, "near the historic sites of an earlier civil war."

A Dynamic Duo

In November, Adelaide Fortune Holderness '34 and her husband, Howard, received the University Award, the University of North Carolina's top honor for service to higher education. They are the first couple to receive the award. Adelaide was cited for giving "the best creative thought and energy to advance higher education in North Carolina." The couple was recognized for more than twenty years of service to public and private educational institutions in the state.

In 1967 Adelaide was named to the Consolidated University Board of Trustees. She served until 1972 when she was elected to the restructured UNC Board of Governors. Adelaide aided in the development of the university system's code which has been cited as a model and used by university systems in other states. She was the first woman to have a major leadership role on the Board and served as vice chairman from 1976-80.

She established the Holderness Fellowships for graduate studies in the liberal arts at UNC-G and was instrumental in three other major scholarship programs: the Alumni Scholars, the Jefferson Standard Scholars and the J. Spencer Love Scholars. She has served on the UNC-G Home Economics Foundation Board and on the Board of Visitors at Guilford and Davidson Colleges. Howard was the first president of the UNC-G Excellence Fund and has received honorary degrees from the University and UNC-CH.

SYMPATHY is extended to Jackie Waiser Plambeck on the death of her father, and to Roberta Dunlap White on the death of her mother, who was also grandmother to Lucie White Robson '69.

1942 Commercial

GREEN
REUNION 1987

Evon Welch Dean has been named to a five-year term on the Board of Trustees at Guilford Technical Community College.

1943

RED
REUNION 1988

Mary Frances Bell Hazelman's "Medicinal Couplet" was published in the Leaves of Greens: The Collard Poems. □ Fleta Mae Hohn has written to say that she has a new granddaughter born November 4 in Libertyville, IL, to her daughter, Alice Kirkman Kunka '74 and her husband Robert. They also have a three-year-old son, Benjamin. □ Helen Kemp Whitney has written to say that her oldest son, Frank Jr., was married in October and is employed by the government and works with computers. She and Frank Sr. attended the 40th class reunion and then drove to the coast to visit Marie Brennan Bullard at Pine Knoll Shores.

SYMPATHY is extended to Rebecca Jane Hardaway Loflin, whose husband, Robert, died on March 12, 1984.

1943 Commercial

RED
REUNION 1988

Mazie Bain Bullard, president of the Pilot Club of Greensboro, and Elizabeth "Lib" Booker '41, first vice president, attended the annual fall council of the North Carolina District of Pilot Club International in September.

1944

LAVENDER
REUNION 1989

Lucy Taylor Ynteme has written to say, "This past June I saw the campus for the first time since graduation. Amazing changes and yet the core is still there! It was good to be there, wished I could have attended the reunion."

1944 Commercial

LAVENDER
REUNION 1989

Paula Alspaugh Andris has been appointed assistant to the vice chancellor for academic affairs. She was the university administrative manager in the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. Paula has been a UNC-G staff member since 1960.

1945

BLUE
REUNION 1985

Ruth Crowder McSwain conducted a stress management seminar at the Church in the Pines, Laurel Hill. Ruth has conducted stress management seminars over two hundred times in thirty-two states.

SYMPATHY is extended to Elizabeth Pearce

CLASS NOTES ♦ CLASS NOTES ♦ CLASS NOTES

Fuller, whose husband, Andrew, died in July 1983.

1947

RED
REUNION 1987

The new executive director of Family Services Inc. is Sarah Y. Austin. Family Services is a counseling agency that helps with adoptions, family and pregnancy counseling and travelers aid. — The Thomas Z. Osborne Wastewater Treatment Facility was dedicated and formally named for former Greensboro city manager Tom Osborne, who is the husband of Ann Bannerman Osborne.

The 1984 recipient of the J. V. Sperry Award, presented by the N.C. Family Life Council, Inc., is Frances Jordan Wagner. Frances is an extension human development specialist at North Carolina State University where she plans and provides research for a statewide child and family development program carried out with county extension agents. The Sperry Award is presented in memory of Dr. J. V. Sperry, a former home economics professor at UNC-G. □ Josephine Medlock Wilson lives in Midlothian, VA.

1948

LAVENDER
REUNION 1988

Sadie Herndon Vannier moved to Sierra Madre, CA, this fall. □ The husband of Betty Wolfe Wolff, Dr. George T. Wolff, was presented an Award of Merit for Outstanding Service to the American Academy of Family Physicians at the AAFP Congress of Delegates in November.

SYMPATHY is extended to Ellen Stirewalt Gentry, whose husband, Gerry, died on November 26, 1984.

1949

BLUE
REUNION 1989

The husband of Mary Reeves Bass, Sam, is the general manager of Sanford's Temple Theatre which has been rebuilt into a performing arts center.

1950

GREEN
REUNION 1985

Helen Moody Buckner has been elected to the Planters Bank's Board of Directors for the Siler City Office. □ Congratulations to Jean Fisher who was married in August to Ernest G. Clendenin. The couple live in Pleasant Garden.

1951

RED
REUNION 1986

Dorothy "Dot" Stanfield Lambeth is one of three new members appointed by Governor Hunt to the NC Advisory Council on Education. □ Elizabeth Parker McPherson of Yanceyville has been elected to a two-year term as chairperson-elect of the Home Economics Alumni Association at UNC-G. She is director of the school food services for Caswell County schools. Lib's daughter, Elizabeth Parker McPherson '82x, was married in September to Michael J. Mollica.

1952

LAVENDER
REUNION 1987

Lucille Hampton Daniel is a teacher and author. She lives in Rutherfordton with her husband, Glenn, who owns The Milk Barn, a gift shop. Lucille was informed by the White House in October that she was one of two teachers in North Carolina and one of one hundred and four national secondary school teachers to receive the Presidential Award for Excellence in science and math teaching. She will go to Washington, DC, to receive her award, and Rutherfordton-Spindale High School will receive a $5,000 grant from the National Science Foundation. □ Nancy Ginns Keck is now living in Tulsa, OK.

SYMPATHY is extended to Joscelyn Williams Hill, whose husband, Verne, died unexpectedly on October 26, 1984 in Athens, GA.

1953

BLUE
REUNION 1988

Herbert Hazelman (MEd) was honored at North Carolina A&T University in October. He directed the Grimsley High School Band for forty-two years and took them on national and international tours. □ Guilford County Commissioner Dorothy Kendall Kearns spoke before the health sub-committee of the Senate Finance Committee in Washington on behalf of the National Association of Counties. Dorothy's testimony centered on the role played by the nation's counties in financing and providing health care for the poor.

1954

GREEN
REUNION 1989

In an article from the Fayetteville Times, Doris Waugh Betts '54x cites her freshman English teacher at the University for a turning point in her life. She'd spent her childhood writing poetry and, "he told me my poetry was terrible." She took his advice, however, and turned to prose. Now she is an award-winning accomplished author and teaches English at UNC-CH, where she believes that honesty is the best gift she can give her freshman English students.

Maud Gatewood attended a show in Rome, Italy, entitled "U.S.A./Portrait of the South." The show includes works from Georgia and North and South Carolina. Maud has her work displayed in the Ten Years/Ten Artists show at the Green Hill Center for North Carolina Art in Greensboro. (See Page 21.)

An acrylic mural by Ellen Farmer Howell is the finishing touch to a remodeling project of the headquarters of First Home Federal Savings and Loan in Greensboro. The mural depicts familiar structures including commercial, spiritual, governmental and recreational aspects of the city. □ Last summer Estelle Cherry Lawing (MEd) had the pleasure of traveling to England and later on to the maritime provinces of Canada.

1955

RED
REUNION 1985

Diana Chatham Calaway has moved to Winston-Salem. □ Frances Kauffman Dash has written a note to say how much she enjoyed an alumni gathering for Prospectus III in Philadelphia last spring. As she and Marjorie Leder Harris '56 were leaving the meeting, she remarked how you never forget some of your "old" classmates. Frances mentioned her sophomore Winfield basement roommate, Teresa Bloom. Marjorie said, "Don't you know, she's right here in Cherry Hill!" The next day Frances called her and, after a thirty-one year separation, they had a "delightful" reunion. □ Barbara Sanderford McEntire is now living in Schaumburg, IL.

1956

LAVENDER
REUNION 1986

Robert B. Jordan, husband of Sarah Jane Cole Jordan, is North Carolina's lieutenant governor. □ Lucinda Lanning McDill is an art teacher/media specialist at Mayesville Elementary School and has moved to Sumter, SC.

1957

BLUE
REUNION 1987

Peggy Burke and Jack Stratton '77 were represented in a show of southeastern art organized by the Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art. The show was held in October at UNC-CH. "Ethereal No. 1" of polished bronze was Peggy's piece. Jack's was an oil called "Rebel Waltz."

Dorothy Barrier Greene is a home economics extension agent and has been honored for twenty-five years of service in the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service. The ceremony took place at the McKimmon Center in Raleigh. □ Margaret Wyatt White has moved to Long Beach.

SYMPATHY is extended to Nancy Gullledge (MEd) whose sister died on October 26, 1984.

1958

GREEN
REUNION 1988

Page High School math teacher Joyce Owen King won one of fourteen regional awards for excellence in teaching from the North Carolina Business Committee for Math/Science Education. She received the award in November from Governor Jim Hunt and Bland W. Worley, committee chairman and retired board chairman of Barclays American Corporation. Joyce has been chairwoman of the Page math department for more than twenty years and was instrumental in developing the senior high mathematics curriculum used statewide.

Joan Forester Padley has a new address in Ft. Lauderdale, FL. □ Hazel Sue Sigmon Williams is a musician living in Atlanta, GA, with her husband, who is an attorney.

VOTE

SEE PAGE 32

VOTE

1959 RED REUNION 1989

Bettie Ferrell Clark is now living in Silver Spring, MD.

1959 Commercial RED REUNION 1989

Patricia Morrow Garner has been appointed a communications officer for First Citizens Bank in Raleigh.

1960 LAVENDAR REUNION 1985

Jane Harris Armfield, Bonnie Caviness '65 and Cynthia Batts Markham '69 have been appointed to the Greensboro Beautiful Board of Directors. □ The husband of Carolyn Reid Clendenin, Robert, has been selected as regional principal of the year for the north central Region 5 by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction and Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. Robert is principal of Greensboro's Walter Hines Page Senior High School.

M. Lynne Mahaffey is assistant vice president of administration at the University of South Carolina and program chair for CASE's District III 1985 conference in Williamsburg, VA, to be held February 17-20.

SYMPATHY is extended to Barbara Barger Barnett, whose husband, James, died unexpectedly on December 28, 1983. He was a manager for IBM in the Dallas area.

1961 BLUE REUNION 1986

Phyllis Cole Andrews Noyes has been appointed the head of the Rush Rhees Library Reference Department at the University of Rochester's River Campus. Her responsibilities include the management and supervision of general reference and the operations in the fine arts, Asia, government documents and microtext sections at the library.

The dream of a sixth-grader finally came true last September when Thelma Bowers Sandifer (MED) made her long awaited trip to Greece. In grade school, Thelma learned of Socrates and from then on her quest for knowledge has been unstoppable. In addition to teaching the three R's she has taught poetry, Shakespeare, art, and liberal doses of classic Greek thought to students who have gained much from her dedication and devotion.

1962 GREEN REUNION 1987

Nancy Jane Stanford Bare is a home economics teacher in Graham. □ Helen Marie Burnette was a speaker at the national convention of the Music Teachers National Association. She was honored at the state convention for service to NCMTA, which she served as president in 1977-79.

Ann Sherrill Davis is a designer of costumes living in Chapel Hill. □ The Greensboro Council of Garden Clubs' major fund-raiser for 1984 was held in October. The council's

Not Afraid of Hard Work

The Morganton Business and Professional Women's Club has honored Ruby Thompson Hooper '45 as the 1984 Burke County Woman of the Year. Ruby, until recently, was the Food Service Director at Grace Hospital. She is the former Food Service Director of Broughton Hospital. From 1963 until her retirement at Broughton she was also responsible for the Western Carolina Center's food preparation. In 1978 Ruby received the Distinguished Service Award for a non-member from the North Carolina Public Health Association. In 1979 she received the Member of the Year Award from the North Carolina Dietetic Association, and then in 1980 the North Carolina Dietition of the Year Award from the Southeastern Hospital Association of Dietitians. A frequent speaker promoting better dietary practices, Ruby also has written a weekly newspaper column since 1979.

She has been very active in the political arena as well. In December she was named deputy secretary of the Department of Human Resources by Governor Jim Martin. She was the first Republican woman candidate for governor in North Carolina. Her advice to women just starting their careers is, "Set goals high, get as much education as possible, be true to yourself and others, be of good character and reputation, become involved in your church and community, and don't be afraid of hard work."

president, Irene Herring McIver (MED), donated one of the major door prizes, a 54-year-old quilt she had made. SYMPATHY is extended to Margaret Underwood (MFA), whose mother died on November 8, 1984.

1963 RED REUNION 1988

Lea Tiller Ross Bortell lives in Black Mountain with her husband who is an insurance agent and real estate broker. □ Elizabeth "Betsy" Hood Barleson lives in Gastonia.

Nancy Grey Riley Calvert is a fourth grade teacher in Fayetteville. She's active in the Holy Trinity Church's choir and also serves as an advisor for the youth group. Her daughter Anne is a freshman at Wake Forest University and her other daughter, Elizabeth, attends Trident Academy in Mt. Pleasant, SC. Her husband, Sam, is a staff physician at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. □ Carolyn Ponzer Taylor and her husband, Dewey '69, are medical technologists and live in Greensboro.

SYMPATHY is extended to Sharon Ivester Everhart and to her husband, J. Don Everhart (PhD), whose mother and mother-in-law died on November 8, 1984, and to Barbara Biser Wales '63C, whose husband, Marion, died on September 22, 1984.

1964 LAVENDAR REUNION 1989

Nancy Towery Anderson moved to Charlotte. □ Besides being a clinic supervisor for the Developmental and Evaluation Center, an agency of the N.C. Department of Human Resources, Betsy Allen Carrier is president of the Greensboro Toastmasters. □ Mary Miller Goslen '64x of Winston-Salem had a retrospective show of her printmaking at the Statesville Arts and Science Museum in October.

Cynthia Nelson Harris has moved to Palmyra, VA. □ Jean Abernathy Poston is Grants Officer at the North Carolina Arts Council of Raleigh. She graduated from a two-week program, "Managing the Arts," which was administered at the School of Business Administration at UNC-CH. □ Rosalie Tripp Ruegg is an economist with the National Bureau of Standards and lives in Pooleville, MD.

Ameila Brookshire Sherer is a United Methodist minister who lives in Texarkana, TX, with her husband, Robert, who is a history professor. □ Brenda Bradley Trivette is a clinical social worker who lives in New Orleans, LA.

SYMPATHY is extended to Ruth Ennis Allred, whose father died on September 12, 1984, and to Jeanne Tannenbaum, whose father, Dr. A. Jack Tannenbaum, died.

1965 BLUE REUNION 1985

Linda Parker Beale has moved to Reston, VA. □ Brenda Meadows Cooper presided at the joint initiation of three local chapters of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society. The event was held at the Alumni House in October. Initiated into the Alpha Chapter was Mary Anne Ryan Busch '77; into the Beta Beta chapter were Elizabeth Hilton Bell '51 and Mary Joe Lentz '69; and into the Phi Delta chapter were Roberta Hoover '81 (PhD) and Elizabeth G. Stout '60.

Laura Quinn Ebert returned to UNC-G in January to work on a degree in child development. Her husband, Jay, is chief engineer for the Beaman Corp. □ Patsy Martin Lightbown is a professor at Concordia University in Montreal. Her husband, Thomas, is a management consultant. They live in Verdun, Quebec, Canada. □ A scholar of Japanese culture and crafts, Patricia Massy Blackburn lectured at the University in October. Patricia teaches at Kyotitsu Woman's University in Tokyo. She also writes a weekly column on Japanese handwork for the Japan Times and has published books on various Japanese crafts. An artist, she works in indigo stencil dyeing.

1966

GREEN
REUNION 1986

Sandra Smith Cowart attended the Carolinas Chapter of ASD's First Annual Awards Gala in November which was held in Columbia, SC. □ At the annual convention of the Carolina Speech Communication Association held in October at Clemson University, Sandra Hopper Forman, president of the association, presided over the two-day event. She also led a workshop, "Job Interviewing for Students." Sandra is a member of the University's department of communication and theatre.

The UNC-G Office of Continuing Education held a series of eight executive development seminars in October and November. Speakers included: Sandra Hopper Forman on "Oral Skills for the Executive," Linda Buckner Greene '80 (MSBE) on "The Professional Secretary," and Jean A. McCullough '82 (MBA) on "Women in Management."

Sheila Johnson Harris has opened a business in Lancaster, PA, that specializes in helping companies gain financing for exporting their products. □ Gertrude Johnson McCall has moved to Hilton Head Island, SC. □ Jane Helms Vance is now living in Marion, TX. SYMPATHY is extended to Mary Tate Graham Blake, whose mother died on September 20, 1984.

1967

RED
REUNION 1987

Barbara Ann Blalock is a math teacher living in Apex. □ Wanda Hawkins Ingle is a teacher of home economics at Floyd High School in Floyd, VA. Her husband is maintenance supervisor of the Rocky Knob Parkway. □ Kathleen Bryan Wharton Kane is a tax consultant living in Williamsburg, VA, with her husband, John, who is a professor of physics.

Kaye Nelson Ratliff has been appointed the director of the Sandhills Mental Health Center in Wadesboro. □ Along with Amanda Ryan was Susan Ellis Marshall '72, David Florence '77, Sharon Pelt Roach '80, Barbara Presnell Strider '81, Dominic Ficarrota Jr. '83 and Alexa Jackson '83, who are featured performers of the Bel Canto/Camerata Singers, a Greensboro group of vocalists. They began their season in September and will close in May.

1968

LAVENDER
REUNION 1988

Virginia Anne Ward Ferris is a wife, mother, and student who lives in Honolulu, HI. Her husband is a doctor. □ Marcia Holder Fortson is a captain in the United States Air Force. □ In a recent "People and Places" article in the Greensboro News and Record Jane Whicker Kellet was lauded for her continuous volunteer work to her community.

Nancy Routh Kimmons is family life director at Florida State University and lives in Tallahassee. □ Rotha Holt Mason is a housewife who lives in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Poet Robert R. Morgan (MFA) has been promoted to professor of English in the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell University in NY. □ Vickie Leebriek Sullivan and husband, James, live in Matthews. She is vice president of computing systems at the First Union National Bank in Charlotte, and James is the Charlotte district manager at the Combustion Engineering Co. □ Sharon Cowling Twiddy is a housewife living with her husband, Douglas, in Kitty Hawk.

SYMPATHY is extended to Jane Cheek Hatfield, whose father died on November 5, 1984, and to Anne Hayes Tate, whose father died on November 2, 1984.

1969

BLUE
REUNION 1989

An average day for Janet Newsome Abbott includes over eighteen hours, with two milkings of twenty-two cows, their feedings, equipment cleaning and numerous other jobs. Janet is one of approximately 4,500 women farmers in North Carolina. Neither she nor her husband, David, had a background in agriculture. They've come a long way since buying their first cow, Patience, in 1978. Now they have fifty-five animals and are running a successful farm in Randolph County.

Annette Fowler Allen is now living in Versailles, KY. □ Charlotte L. Alston (MM) has been named director of the division of humanities at Bennett College. □ Collis Dean Hill Charlton and her husband, Paul, are missionaries living in Brazil. □ Linda Fuller Hagemeyer is a teacher and counselor in Matthews.

Jan Morton Humphrey is a housewife and student in Livonia, MI. Her husband, Robert, is a design engineer with the Ford Motor Company. □ Jane Ingram is now living in Blacksburg, VA. □ Captain Harry K. Jenkins has relocated to Baltimore, MD. □ Teresa Ramey Kennedy is a teacher living in Wilson. □ Linda Pickens Martin is a teacher living in York, SC.

William A. Newnam Jr. is owner of Newnam Construction Company. He and his wife, Lucinda, live in Chapel Hill where she works at the UNC-CH Library. □ Shirley Lee Poe is now living in McLean, VA. □ Rebecca Joanne Church Solomon is a former high school math teacher and presently a homemaker in Lawrenceville, GA. Her husband, Larry, is with the Southern Bell Security Division in Atlanta. □ ynthia L. Wharton lives in Brooklyn Heights, NY.

SYMPATHY is extended to Mary Brantley Sabat, whose mother died on November 22, 1984.

1970

GREEN
REUNION 1985

Cathrine Clemmer Barbour and husband, David '71, have a new address in Midlothian, VA. □ Brenda Kay Barlow received a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in August. Linda was awarded the degree in English after completing a dissertation on "Musical Imagery in the Poetry of Keats."

Carolyn Biggerstaff (MA) has been named the executive director of Youth and Family Counseling Service which has offices in Lexington and Thomasville. She leaves the Davidson County Mental Health Center where she was a therapist for three years and treated drug and alcohol clients. □ Mary McGlamery Conrad (Med) and husband, Jouathann M. Conrad (MED), are now living in Dunwoody, GA. □ Phyllis Coram Ehardt and husband, Tom, have a son, Scott Coram Ehardt, born on October 8, 1984.

Linda W. Douglass Kennedy is a teacher who lives in Lincolnton. □ Linda Wilson McDougle (MED) is the principal of Dudley High School and has been named to the advisory council of the National Merit Scholarship Program. □ Catherine Ledbetter Padgett is a computer analyst and lives in Ypsilanti, MI, with her husband, Marcus, who is a computer engineering consultant.

Naoey Idol Southern has moved to Stokesdale, NC. □ Linda Whitaker Stipe is a new assistant principal at Farmington Woods Elementary School. Her husband, David, is the principal at Fuquay-Varina High School and her son, Bernie, is in the fourth grade. □ Martha Bishop Whitehead is a homemaker in Raleigh.

1971

RED
REUNION 1986

Lynn Nowicki Beck lives in Columbus, GA. □ Mary Alice Kendall Borneam is a first grade teacher's aide in Wilmington. □ Linda Goodnight Brandon is a credit union manager and lives in Cary. □ Elaine Sechrist Brown is a teacher in a private church school; her husband, James, is associate pastor of the First Baptist Church in Memphis, TN.

Kathryn Bishop Brown is a wife and mother who lives in Rockville, MD. □ Bettye R. Connell lives in Atlanta, GA. □ Vicki Wood Crenshaw and husband, Jerry, live in Raleigh and both work at IBM where she is an education manager and he is a business planner.

□ Susan Stroud Hussey is a French teacher and lives in Asheville.

Frances Taylor Jackson is a teacher with the Greensboro City Schools and lives in Summerfield. □ The North Carolina Tuba Band is directed by David Lewis, a member of the UNC-G music faculty. They performed in Raleigh in November at the Fayetteville Street Mall. David also plays with the North Carolina Symphony. □ Darrell R. Marks manages a sewing operation and lives in Greensboro with his wife, Susan Marie Gorski '72, who is an outlet manager.

Participating in a professional-level management course, "The Principals' Executive Program," which is offered by UNC-CH, are Mary Hoyng Martin and Elbert R. Brigman III '74 (MED). The course is being taught during seven three-day sessions. The participants were selected from nominations from their superintendents. □ Leslie Ann Degen McLeod lives in Marietta, GA, with her husband, Hugh, who is an orthopaedic surgeon. Leslie is in orthopaedic implant sales. □ Delores West Miller is a teacher and lives in Greensboro.

Crighton D. Newsom has moved to Cincinnati, OH. □ R. Jean Overton (MED) has been promoted to associate director for Small Business and Business Occupations Programs in the North Carolina Community College System. □ Marjorie Anne Chamberlain Richards is a teacher in Spring City, TN.

Phyllis Sheintoch Sperling is a homemaker living in Virginia Beach, VA. □ Katherine Howell Wiglesworth works in interior design and lives in Greensboro with husband, Thomas.

SYMPATHY is extended to Lynn Ferguson, whose father, former Chancellor James S. Ferguson, died on September 24, 1984, and to Talmadge Jobe Jr. (MED), Sally Crumpler Jobe '64 and Martha Naylor Jobe '69, whose mother and mother-in-law died on September 18, 1984.

1972

LAVENDER
REUNION 1987

As the captain of the first varsity soccer team at UNC-G, William Au has written to say how gratifying it is to him that the soccer team has found such success and two national championships. He has moved to Galveston, TX, where he is an assistant professor in the Department of Preventive Medicine and Community Health at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston. He also reports he and his wife now have an active two-year-old, Kimberly.

Barbara Hatcher Carpenter is a mother and homemaker living in Matthews. □ Sue Woodall Cole, vice president and senior loan officer with the North Carolina National Bank in Greensboro, has been elected the president of the Home Economics Foundation, a support organization for the UNC-G School of Home Economics. Sue will serve a two-year term and is the former vice president of the Foundation. Also newly elected were Miriam Scott Mayo '48 as vice president, Rita Dubois Fitzgerald '41 as secretary and Adelaide

Applaud for Maud

In Raleigh last November, Maud Gatewood '54 was one of six people to receive the highest honor presented by the state, the North Carolina Award. Maud received the Fine Arts Award for "her excellence as a painter and teacher and for vigorous advocacy of the role of the artist." She is a Caswell county native who earned her degrees from UNC-G and Ohio State University and studied on a Fulbright scholarship with Oskar Kokoschka in Austria. She has taught both in Alabama and Texas and currently coordinates the art program at Averett College in Danville, VA.

Maud is certainly one of the best known artists in the Southeast and has had works in solo and group exhibitions, including the North Carolina Museum of Art, where she was the first North Carolinian to have a solo show in the new museum building. In addition, she has received a Painting Award from the National Academy of Arts and Letters and an Artist's Fellowship from the North Carolina Arts Council. Maud has been part of the Southeastern Seven program of the National Endowment for the Arts, as well as the Southeastern Center for Contemporary Art. Active in public affairs, she has served on the board of the North Carolina Arts Council and is a past chairman of the Caswell County Commission. Her work is nationally known for her clear, strong technique and original images.

Fortune Holderness '34 as a director.

Nancy Partin Haines is a teacher; her husband, Stanley, is a CPA with Blue Bell, Inc. and they live in Greensboro. □ Patricia Pope Hastings has relocated within Salisbury.

□ James S. Kahan is living in Clayton, MO.

□ Leila Carpenter Kelly is the director of planning and development at Central Virginia Community College. She lives in Forest, VA.

Sandra Caudle Mason is with Piedmont Airlines and lives in Winston-Salem.

□ Vernessa Woodrow McGuinness and her husband live in Charlotte. □ Vickie Anne McKinney is a teacher and lives in Albany, GA.

□ Linda Barnes Miller and husband live in Wilson.

An advanced systems analyst, Emma M. Neese lives in Newtown Square, PA. □ Linda Copeland Quick is a teacher living in Hamlet.

□ Ann H. Reed is the manager of an apartment complex in Atlanta, GA. □ The Guilford County Board of Education appointed the following new assistant principals: Kathryn May Rogers and Wesley Stinson '74 (MED) to Southeast Junior High School; Anne Bailey Murr '80 (MED) to Jamestown Middle School, and Bruce Shafferman '83 (MED) to Northeast Junior High School.

Judith Beehold Root (MFA) is a professor and visiting writer; husband, Kent Anderson, is a writer. They live in El Paso, TX. □ Mary Robeson Sams is a lawyer living in Tallahassee, FL. □ Janie Sheperd Schwab is the co-owner/manager with her husband of a building maintenance company in Raleigh. □ Emily Wagoner Simons is a former home economics teacher living in Holly Hill, SC.

Frances Wylie Smith is a homemaker in Raleigh. □ Carole Benson Spence has moved to Asheville. □ Vicki Talley Stanfield is a media coordinator at the Jefferson School and lives in Clemmons. □ Yvonne Shelton Williams has joined the faculty of Salem Academy in Winston-Salem. She teaches Spanish.

Krista Merritt Woodall is working for an investment firm and living in New York City. □ Jean Leigh Woodruff was married to David R. Laliberte in October. Jean is employed by Western New England College, and he is with the Holyoke School System. They live in Springfield, MA. □ Etta Florence Wrenn is a high school guidance counselor in Troy.

Lynn Everage Auman is a music teacher in the Greensboro Public School System. □ Gaylen E. Bailey is in personnel administration and lives in Stem. □ Barbara Todd Barrett is an educational consultant and bookkeeper living in Hendersonville. □ Rebecca Brown Beardmore has moved to Carlisle, PA.

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an

James E. Best Jr. spent two weeks in October discussing cued speech with officials from the Institute of Defectology in Moscow, Minsk, Kiev, and Leningrad, USSR. Jim has a private practice in speech pathology in Ararat, VA. □ Karen Russell Bumgardner is a teacher for Columbia City Schools, and her husband is an assistant principal at a high school. They live in Lancaster, SC. □ Paula Camenzind's works of porcelain were on display in the Morehead Galleries in Forum VI in Greensboro during November.

Suzon Grogan Carter had taught speech pathology for seven years before she went into business for herself. For the past five years she has been the owner/manager of The Back Door, a gift shop in Eden. □ Mark E. Clark is an honors assistant professor of classics at the University of Southern Mississippi at Hattiesburg. □ Rebecca Spotswood Davis is living in Carpinteria, CA, studying electronics.

Virginia Gunn Fick (MA) has published a book entitled, Country College on the Yadkin, an illustrated narrative of Yadkin College. The cover features a full-color reproduction of Bob Timberlake's "Snow at Yadkin College." Virginia has been teaching composition and literature courses at Davidson County Community College for the past fourteen years. □ Marie Meeler Fisher is a director for staff development; her husband, John (MEd), is an electronics technician. They live in Greensboro.

Janet Funderburk is an assistant professor in the school of music at Ithaca College in New York. □ Shirley Macemnon Grayson is manager of marketing services at Tymshare in San Jose, CA. □ An untitled pastel by Alix Hitchcock was included in the Art on Paper exhibit. □ Donald P. McCurdy is an ophthalmologist and lives in Rock Hill, SC. □ Delanna Moring Pratt Parsons is living in Eden.

Virginia Schroeder Presti and her husband are living in Karachi, Pakistan. □ Patricia Croom Rhodes is a housewife in Weaverville. Her husband, Joseph, is a dentist. □ At the North Carolina Theatre Conference held in November Dan Seaman, drama instructor at the Philip J. Weaver Education Center in Greensboro, spoke on "Ensemble Theatre Training for Secondary Schools," and Keith Martin '79, executive director of the Greensboro Community Theatre, discussed the recruitment of volunteers. Dan directed "The Glass Menagerie" for the Community Theatre of Greensboro in November and December.

Elizabeth Northcott Snitzer is an insurance underwriter and lives in Strongsville, OH. □ Robertson, Neal and Co., certified public accountants of Greensboro, has announced the admittance of Janice Edwards Steede, Michael A. Robertson '74 and Margaret McNairy Luehke '79 (MBA) as partners.

1974

GREEN
REUNION 1989

Patsy Allen was among thirteen members of Piedmont Craftsmen, Inc. whose works were featured in a show called "The Elegant Eighties." Patsy is a fiber artist and her one-of-a-kind work has been displayed widely in North Carolina. The work of Patsy was also included in the 20th annual Art on Paper show in the Weatherspoon Art Gallery at the University.

Ruth Barrow Bar is coordinator of the Gulf Coast Home Health Services in Pinellas Park,

A High Honor

Mary Josephine "Jo" Conrad Cresimore '57 has been appointed by President Reagan to the National Council on the Humanities. The Council is a twenty-six member policymaking body on the National Endowment for the Humanities in Washington, D.C. Its work includes making recommendations on grants for federal money to institutions, organizations and individuals involved in the humanities. The picture above was taken at Jo's swearing-in ceremony at the federal courthouse in Raleigh performed by Eastern District Federal Judge Franklin T. Dupree. Pictured are husband Jim, Jo and Judge Dupree.

FL. □ At Hood College in Frederick, MD, Kathleen Colquitt Bands has been named assistant professor of home economics.

□ Thomas J. Blair has a new address in Clemmons.

Laurie Louise Conway was married to David M. Thore in November. Laurie is employed by the Bryan Enrichment Center, and he is an assistant golf professional at Wolf Creek Golf Club. □ Renee Gurley Davis is a captain in the USAF and a nurse stationed at Tyndal Air Base in FL. □ Irene Anderson Foster is an interior designer and realtor in Panama City, FL. □ Barbara Dunn Francis is a drafter for Chiles Engineering and lives in New Bern.

Fran Garrison has received her MBA from UNC-Chapel Hill and has started work at the Communications Consultants Corporation of Virginia. She now lives in Richmond.

□ Russell L. Hailey owns Hailey Sales West and lives in Nassau Bay, TX. □ Cynthia Torgay Hatch is a housewife and works part-time in day care. She lives in Kernersville.

□ Anne-Marie Dowe Hicks is a housewife and lives in Lewisville. □ Lee G. Watts Hobbs is a teacher. Her husband, James, is a sales representative for Wythe Lab, and they live in Durham.

Carolyn Chitty Hudspeth is a teacher in Valrico, FL. □ Maelyn Rae Hutchins is a registered nurse and lives in Lexington, KY. □ S. Jeffrey Jones is an assistant professor and lives in Shaker Heights, OH. □ Lee Kinard received a community service award by the North Elm Street Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Greensboro for his many services to the public through his "Good Morning Show" on WFMY-TV. □ James A. Lampley Jr. is an auditor for the State of North Carolina and lives in Wendell.

Kathleen Rushford Murray is living in Camarillo, CA. □ Geraldine Henderson Ray (MS) has joined the faculty at Bennett College as assistant professor of home economics. □ Marilyn Elizabeth Rice and John B. Blaylock Jr. were married on November 17, 1984. She is employed by Blue Bell, Inc. and he is with Decks Unlimited.

M. Arden Conway Richards is a full-time wife and mother to Christopher, age three, and infant daughter Catherine. She is children's choir director at Briarwood Presbyterian Church and volunteers part-time at the church doing solo work and directing in the large choir program. She, her husband Don, and children live in Birmingham, AL. □ Jerry E. Richardson is an engineer living in Lilburn, GA. His wife, Bonnie, is a CPA. □ Patricia Kellar Rolfe is a telesales supervisor and lives in Buks, England.

Claire Mehler Schneider is a nurse living in Lewisville, TX. Her husband, Fred, is an airplane mechanic. □ Katherine Shropshire is the head of the circulation department of the Greensboro Public Library. □ Elaine Moxley Simmons is a director of quality management, and her husband is a textile department manager. They live in Rockingham. □ Patricia Angel Simpson is a teacher in Greensboro. □ Ellen Presnell Smoak has been elected to a two-year term as secretary of the Home Economics Alumni Association at UNC-G. Ellen is a clothing specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service based at North Carolina A&T State University.

In November, Elaine Talbert led three sessions at the Greensboro YMCA entitled "Women in the Workplace: Increasing Personal Power." □ An exhibition of paintings by Robbie M. Tillotson was held at the High Point Theatre Gallery. Attending the opening was Virginia Budny '70 (MFA) who is a sculptor and writer and who has been a friend and supporter of Robbie's since he was a student at UNC-G. □ Jerry D. Turner has moved to Harrison, TN.

Sharon Mullen Watts is a teacher who has taken time off to be at home with her baby. Her husband, Keith, is vice president of World Woods, Inc. They live in New Bern. □ Rita Moser Willis is a teacher, and her husband, David, is a manager with a retail store. They live in Colfax. □ Jo Ann Bell Wilson is a housewife living in Milton. □ Elaine Britt Wyche is a fourth-grade teacher at Edgewood Elementary School and has been named the Whiteville Teacher of the Year.

VOTE

SEE PAGE 32

VOTE

1975

RED
REUNION 1985

Patricia Mullins Acuff is a secretary at Jefferson Standard Life in Knoxville, TN.
 □ Edward H. Albert lives in Brooklyn, NY, where he is a college professor of sociology.
 □ The Greensboro Barn Dinner Theatre's version of Wait Until Dark was directed by Barry Bell. Acting in the production was Craig Spradley '74. □ Elizabeth Blessin and her husband, Eugene Schmig, live in Greensboro.

Michael J. Brown is a sales manager in medical sales. His wife, Cynthia, is a student at UNC-G. They live in Greensboro. □ David and Sharon Reeves Butler live in Charlotte, where David is an auditor and Sharon is a nurse. □ Michael A. Calder has moved to Ft. Eustis, VA. □ A book called "Rape in Medieval England: An Historical and Sociological Study," by John Marshall Carter (MA) is now available. John is now an assistant professor of history at East Carolina University. □ Concerts by the concert band and a jazz ensemble were held at the University in December. Neill Clegg, a saxophonist and music lecturer at UNC-G, performed in the Janis Ian-Matt piece, "At Seventeen."

William N. C. Culbertson (EDD) is a captain in the U.S. Army Reserves and lives in Durham. □ "View of a Woman," by Abbe Godwin (MFA), was included in the Art on Paper Exhibit on campus. □ Claudia Janette Gill Green is married to a doctor; they live in Greensboro. □ Charlotte Lynn Hurst Harper is a housewife living at Elmendorf Air Force Base in Arkansas where her husband is a captain in the USAF.

Rachel Shepard Jackson is a nurse at Durham County General. □ Meg Anderson Jewell is an administrative assistant with the Morris/Anthony Corporation in Hilton Head, SC. □ Suzanne Bowles Kolodziej is a guidance counselor at Thomasville Senior High School and lives in Greensboro. □ A dozen art patrons had agreed to back a painting trip to Greece for William Mangum in exchange for the first chance to select from the work he produced. Those pieces have been on display at the Carey-Mangum Galleries in Greensboro.

Carolyn Falor McCourt is now living in Saegerstown, PA. □ Eddie W. McKinney is a senior auditor and lives in Pensacola, FL. □ Kay Snider Mondta has been promoted to claims supervisor at United Guaranty Residential Insurance Company in Greensboro. □ Charlotte Bennett Moore is a former teacher who is now a wife and mother. Her husband, Allen, is the owner of a printing company. They live in Franklin, TN.

Virginia Ganong Nichols is a professional photographer and resides in Decatur, GA. □ Kathy Upchurch Osbourn is assistant personnel director for Amphanol and lives in Durham. □ Robert L. Reed was married in September to Nancy Marie Russ. Robert works for the Northwestern Bank and Nancy is with Piedmont Airlines. The couple live in Kernersville.

Becke J. Roughton (MFA) is a poet and visual artist who has been named visiting poet for Chowan County. Becke has been active in

A Return To Carolina

Patricia J. Shore '58 is now living in Winston-Salem where she has joined R.J. Reynolds, Inc. as group director of corporate public affairs. Pat coordinates the public affairs activities throughout the R.J. Reynolds organization, and she directs state and local governmental relations programs for the company. Pat returns to North Carolina from Washington D.C. where she was director of the State of North Carolina's Washington office since 1977. From 1975-1977 Pat was associate manager of governmental relations for the General Foods Corp. in Washington. She served on the staff of U.S. Senator Sam J. Ervin Jr. from 1958 until he retired in 1975 and was his administrative assistant the last three years.

similar programs with the North Carolina Arts Council for the past three years. She has published poems in Poetry, Southern Poetry Review, Greensboro Review, Portfolio 84, and Poetry Now. Becke and husband, Jerry (MFA), have moved to Edenton. □ Judith Bolac Spears has a new address in Raleigh.

□ Roger D. Stanley works in a music and printing office in Chicago, IL.
 □ Beverly M. Snyder has moved to Pratt, KS.
 □ Ellen Peebles Thrower has joined the faculty at Drake University in Des Moines, IA. She is an associate professor in the department of insurance, actuarial science, and statistics.
 □ Melanie Johnson Underwood has been promoted to junior industrial engineer at Coty, Inc. in Sanford. She is in charge of the Cost Improvement Program. Her husband Steven '73 is a teacher at Lee County Senior High School. They have a four-year-old son, Jonathan.

Angela Smith Vess is an engineering secretary for Buehler Products. Her husband, David, is a seminary student. They live in Wake Forest. □ A view of Tar Heel transportation is depicted in a painting by Wendy Travis Wallace. It hangs in the lobby of the Wachovia Building in Greensboro. The painting includes North Carolina firsts, such as the Wright Brothers' first flight at Kitty Hawk, the "Original Showboat" which was a converted barge that traveled in coastal waters, and the first trailer of tobacco that was pulled by a car.

Dru Eason Wilkins is married to a physician and lives in New Bern. □ Melinda Moore Williams is a photo technician in Randeman.

1976

LAVENDER
REUNION 1986

Sylvia Kaye Johnson Bjorkman is a counselor/psychologist for Greenville City Schools where she lives. □ Sally Wincheter Boggs is a teacher. Her husband is a Methodist minister and they live in Etowah. □ The paintings and ceramic works of Greensboro artists Keith Buckner and Peter Berry '80 were on display in the Morehead Galleries in Forum VI at the Friendly Shopping Center in October. Keith and Duane Creech '80 (MFA) were among the artists featured in The Winter Show of the Green Hill Center for North Carolina Art.

Ralph M. Chambers (MA) was invited to represent the University at the inauguration of Robert Hunter Chambers III as the President of Western Maryland College. □ Marilyn Hull Cirulis is a minister with the Pathway Center. Her husband, Marriss, is a student at Duke University. They live in Greensboro. □ Marsha Smith Compton reports she's moved to LaGrange. □ Rose Marie Cooper (PhD) received the Bessie Whittington Pföhl Sacred Music Award during "Culture Week" in Raleigh in November. The award was presented by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs for Rose's work, "Jubilee."

Cindy Hildreth Elks was an English teacher prior to her marriage to Charles. He is a dealer development specialist for Westinghouse Furniture Systems. They live in Summerfield. □ Darian Haley Harris is an actress living in New York City. □ James T. Hughey Jr. is an industrial engineer. His wife, Beth, is a nurse, and they live in Collinsville, VA. □ Wally Carswell Jones is a high school math teacher. Her husband, Gordan, is a high school English and French teacher. They live in Winston-Salem.

Jeffrey E. Kay was married to Margaret B. Humphrey in December. He is with E. B. Carpenter, and she is a clinical psychologist. □ Brenda Overton Languirand is a kindergarten teacher. Her husband, Mark, is the sales and service supervisor at Jefferson Standard. They live in Baton Rouge, LA. □ Mary Darlene Lovern was married to John Wesley Gardner in September. John is employed with AMP Inc. They live in Lewisville.

Martha Ellen Groome McGirt is a lab supervisor at Greensboro's water treatment plant. Her husband, Glenn, is the plant supervisor of

VOTE

SEE PAGE 32

VOTE

Metro in Greensboro. □ Victoria Silby Mora writes that she has spent the last five years in "torrid" Tucson, AZ. She is now living in San Francisco while her husband completes his plastic surgery fellowship, then in 1986 he'll be in the Navy. Victoria received her Masters of Music in 1981. She is currently teaching privately and is active in the church music ministry. She has two daughters, Heather, who is four, and Tristen, who is two.

Mary Mollie Hamilton Mullin was married to Gary S. Kenton in October. Mollie is employed by WEA International Record Co., and he is a journalist. □ Vicky Vanderford Pratt is an assistant clerk of court and lives in Brevard. □ Mary Jan Setzer was married to Henry L. Schmulling Jr. in November. She is employed by the Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system. He is with Duke Power. □ Gale Stahl was married on August 18 to Carter A. Johnson. Gale is a part-time student at Columbia Bible College, and Carter is a minister working on his master's degree at Columbia Bible College. They live in Blythe-wood, SC.

Cindy Swaim Sykes is a secretary at the reservation office of the Carolina Inn at Chapel Hill. She lives in Mebane. □ Patricia Chamberlain Thrope is a missionary, and her husband, Bruce, is a pediatrician. They are living in Nepal. □ Rena Catherine Starr Tripp is teaching in Craven County. She and her husband, Jesse, live in Havelock.

Barbara Overcash Trott and her husband, Robert, live in Fayetteville, AR, where he is an assistant football coach at the University of Arkansas. □ Keith D. Wells is a business systems analyst in Orlando, FL. □ Larry D. Wilkinson is the senior minister at Providence United Methodist Church in Charlotte. □ Judy Lynn Haskins Williams is a teacher who lives in Rolesville. □ Valeria Renee Williamson was married to Lenwood E. Edwards in November. The couple are employed by the Greensboro City school system.

1977

BLUE
REUNION 1987

Roger D. Alden is president of Alden Metals, Inc.; his wife, Brenda Page '81, is marketing manager for the company. □ Errol R. Alger has joined the staff of Cleland, Ward, Smith & Associates, a Winston-Salem advertising agency, as art director. He, his wife, Charlene Bowie '76, and his two children live in Greensboro. He is recognized as a leading authority on mixed media impressionist painting. □ Claudia Best Anamier is a purchasing agent for Carolyn Fabrics and lives in High Point.

Herbert T. Appenzeller Jr. is a teacher in Mint Spring, VA. □ Angela Diane Arnold is secretary-treasurer at Arnold Equipment Company in Greensboro. □ Gerald D. Austin (EdD) has been nominated as Principal of the Year for District VII of the North Carolina Association of Educators division of administrators. Gerald is the principal at Weaver Education Center in Greensboro. □ At this year's Art on Paper exhibit Sheila Batiste's work, "Perfect Timing," was shown.

Henry M. Battle Jr. is the assistant headmaster at St. Annes Private School and lives in Charlottesville, VA. □ J. Marlene Rumley Bray has moved to North Charleston, SC. □ Leslie Riggins Carswell has been appointed the service coordinator of the Henderson branch office of MedVisit Inc. Leslie, her husband, Fred, and their four-year-old daughter, Katherine Meredith, have recently moved to Henderson from Galax, VA. Leslie will be responsible for services provided to patients in Warren, Vance, and Granville counties in the home health care program.

Maxine Abercrombie Claar (MEd) has been named the 1984 Teacher of the Year for Alamance County Schools. Maxine is science coordinator for the county school system and a biology teacher at Graham High School. She is sometimes called "Mother Nature" for her strong interest in edible wild foods, camping, and nature. □ Denise Paulette Descouzis was married to Jose Luis Huerta in November. She is an audiologist at the University of Texas. He is employed by IBM. □ Katie Grays Dorsett (EdD) has been elected secretary of the Guilford Technical Community College Board of Trustees for 1984-85. She is an associate professor at North Carolina A&T State University and is a member of the Greensboro City Council.

Kenneth H. Fisher has moved to Summit, NJ. □ Luvonia Garner, who lives in New York City, was back in Greensboro at Thanksgiving and sang at an inter-faith service sponsored by the Piedmont Inter-Faith Council. She sang "Memory" from the Broadway musical Cats, and "If We Only Have Love," by Jacques Brel. □ Robin Barineau Guinn has been promoted to general accountant at the Heafner Tire Company. Her husband, David, is with Buckeye Gas Products, and they live in Lincolnton.

Lisa Nadine Horner was married to William Ray Hobbs Jr. in September. Lisa is employed by Marilyn's Model and Talent Agency, and he is with the Department of State in Washington. □ Kenneth Franklin Huffstetter was married to Leslie Jan Allen in September. He is a mathematics teacher at Watauga High School, and she is a student at Appalachian State University. The couple live in Boone. □ Pattie Clark Joyce has been appointed as a medical social worker with the Home Health program through the health departments of Northampton, Hertford, Gates, and Bertie counties.

Cindy Lou Kellis was married to Matthew G. Yenik in October. Cindy is employed by Barclays American Corp., and he is with IBM. □ Peggy Towe Kirtland is a speech pathologist with the Jefferson Parish School Board and also has her own private practice. Her husband, Craig, is athletic director and head basketball coach at Archbishop Blenk High School. They live in New Orleans, LA, and say they miss North Carolina.

Gene Kronberg (MFA), curator of the Greensboro Artists' League's 15th Annual Fine Arts Competition held in September, said the competition was national in scope and drew artists from as far away as California. □ Mildred Bowling McNeil works with TASC, a division of the Greensboro Drug Action Council. □ Pamela H. Steele is a registered nurse working at Duke Hospital and living in Durham.

1978

GREEN
REUNION 1988

Merry Conder Bearden is a commercial artist, and her husband, Daniel, is a marketing executive. They live in Asheville. □ Randy B. Bostian has moved to Greenville, SC. □ Anne Iseman Broadway has a new address in Greensboro. □ Adele Byrum has moved to Kannapolis. □ Thomas E. "Ted" Durham Jr. has been promoted to assistant vice president of First Union National Bank in Greensboro.

Patricia Grace Emblor was married to James T. Wagstaff Jr. in October. She is a nurse at the Medical University of South Carolina; he is a paramedic with the Charleston County Emergency Medical Service. They honeymooned in the Caribbean and live in Charleston, SC. □ Susan Transon Graham is an ICU nurse at Wesley Long Community Hospital. Her husband, Allan, is a student; they live in Greensboro. □ Ann Sawyer Hall is a cake decorator at Brookshire's Bakery. Her husband, Kenneth, is an account executive with Mid America Directory Co. They live in Longview, TX. □ David S. Harris is a representative of the Nissan Motor Company and lives in Benicia, CA.

Edward Warren Hartsock Jr. was married to Jamie Irene Spurgeon in October. He is employed with Jorman Auto Works and Wachovia Association, and she is with the Norton Company. □ Mary Elizabeth Lambeth Hutchinson is now living in Covington, LA, where her husband, Jack, designs and manufactures ultra-light aircraft. They have a 3½-year-old daughter, Camille. □ The honor of being the Outstanding Elementary Mathematics Teacher of Lincoln County went to Karen Lesley Kiser this year. Karen teaches "fun" math to first-graders at the North Brook Primary School. □ Andrew L. Love has been elected banking officer in the sales finance group at Wachovia Bank & Trust in Winston-Salem. Andrew and his wife, Sandra Spratt Love '80, live in Lewisville and have one daughter.

Robert Walker McPherson married Antalanese Magdalene von Witzky in November. He is owner of R. W. McPherson & Co.; she is employed by Jordan Information Services. □ Mary Smith Metcalf is a first grade teacher in the Greenville County school system. Her husband, Larry, is a data processing manager at Bicom, Inc. They live in Taylors, SC. □ Donna Hill Oliver (MEd) has been named Teacher of the Year at Cummings and the National Science Teachers Association's Search for Excellence Outstanding Biology Teacher. Donna is faculty advisor to the Cummings Student Academy of Science, which promotes scientific research. She is also advisor to the sophomore class, the student government and the varsity cheerleaders. Governor Jim Hunt presented the awards at UNC-C in November.

VOTE

SEE PAGE 32

VOTE

□ Patricia Henderson Pulliam (MSHE) is the first woman salesperson to represent the Westminster Company in Greensboro.
 □ Valerie F. Putney gave birth to her first child on Thanksgiving Day. His name is Robert Bingham Putney. Valerie has been active on the board of the NC Women's Network.
 □ Mike Renn (MED) is principal of Lindley Elementary School in Greensboro and has been named the 1984-85 Administrator of the Year for District 6 by the North Carolina Association of Education Office Personnel.

□ Lisa Thomas Spainhour has written to say that she and her husband, Tom, have recently moved from Ausburg, West Germany, to Burtonwood, England. Lisa is an education services specialist at the American Army base where Tom is the 56th Finance Section Commander. They will be returning to the United States in December 1985, to reside in Indiana for six months before moving on to their next duty post. □ A tapestry by Linda Laskoske Summer was included in the "Small Works" exhibition at the Greensboro Artists' League Gallery in December. □ Wanda Jo Wall was married to Mark W. Pell at the Raleigh Little Theatre Rose Garden in September. She is a nurse in the operating room at Wake County Medical Center, and he is employed by Kerr Drugs. The couple live in Raleigh.

□ John B. Whittemore is a captain in the US Army and serves as a critical care nurse at the Tripler Army Medical Center in Pearl City, HI. His wife, Becky, is a neo-natal nurse. □ Art Winstead has joined the Greensboro certified public accountant firm of Davenport, Martin, Joyce & Co. as a partner.

1979

RED
REUNION 1989

□ Darrell Scott Allen and his wife, Mary Ann, are both medical technologists who live in Jacksonville, FL. □ Elizabeth Barks Cox's (MFA) new novel, Familiar Ground, has been published by Athenum. Elizabeth gave a public reading at the University's Elliott Center in October. □ Penny Hickman has been named the new food service director at Guardian Care of Elkin. □ O. K. Hogan (MBA) has been named as assistant vice president of financial planning and cost control at the Cannon Mills Company.

MARRIAGES: Anne Cedargren (MEd) to Henderson Scott in September. Anne is a public health educator with the Alamance County Health Department. He is president of Melville Plastics Inc. They live in Haw River. □ Cynthia Lea Davis to Richard A. Wagoner Jr. in October. She is employed as a first grade teacher at the Duke School for Children in Durham. He is an inspector with the Wake County Health Department. They live in Raleigh.

□ Phoebe Deborah Frady to Larry W. Campbell in November. She is employed as

Moving Down East

UNC-G said good-bye to David B. McDonald '70 in February. Dave leaves his position as acting vice chancellor for development to become director of institutional advancement at East Carolina University. His responsibilities there include the annual giving program, the planned giving program, corporation and foundation giving, and donor research. Dave served as UNC-G's assistant director of development from 1970 until 1975 when he was promoted to director of annual giving. In 1981 he was appointed director of development. Under his direction, annual giving and unrestricted gifts have steadily risen. The University has enjoyed national ranking in the top twenty consistently among institutions for the percentage of alumni contributing support to the annual fund. In the Prospectus III Campaign, Dave served as staff liaison for the leadership and major gifts divisions and coordinated the NC Alumni, Parents, and Friends Division.

assistant manager at Marty's Record Shop. He is maintenance supervisor at Westchester Mall. They live in High Point. □ Reba Melia Green to Guy Russell Holley in September. She is employed by the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, and he is with United Piece and Dye Works. □ Kimetha Louise Hunt to Robert S. Adden Jr. in December. She is with the Mecklenburg County Department of Social Services. He is an attorney.

□ Sharon Leigh Idol to Gregory Keith Parks in September. Sharon works for the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School System, and he is with the Sportsman Supply Co. They live in Kernersville. □ Mary Charles Jones to Paul Roberts in September. Mary is a programmer/analyst for the Square D Co., and he is a facilities engineer with the same company. The couple enjoyed a honeymoon cruise to the Caribbean. They live in Cary. □ Joyce Ellen Pugh to Richard W. Morgan Jr. in October.

Joyce is employed by Richardson-Vicks, Inc., and he is with Burlington Industries.

□ David Gray Thompson to Polly Ann Templeton '83 in September. She works for H. L. Yoh Co., and he works for the Graybar Electric Co. They live in Winston-Salem. □ Timothy S. Weavil to Margie J. Milani in October. Timothy is a controller with Simplistic Enterprises Inc., and she is a chiropractic assistant at the Strupe Chiropractic Center. The couple live in Winston-Salem. SYMPATHY is extended to Dura Jeanne Siebert McCulley, whose father died on November 3, 1984.

1980

LAVANDAR
REUNION 1985

□ Tanzy L. Barrow is now living in Kansas City, MO. □ Montez E. Bowen is a physical education teacher at Walton High School in Marietta, GA. □ Marianne Bradburn is a teacher with Guilford County schools and lives in Greensboro. □ James T. Chappell (MBA) and his wife, Nancy Procter Chappell, are now living in Charlotte. □ John Robert Davis has been promoted to financial officer at Branch Bank & Trust Company. He is a financial planning and acquisition analysis officer in the financial division of the company's home office in Wilson.

□ Robert S. Darst is a CPA with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company in Burlington. □ Judy Gagliardi (MEd) is the new director of the Preschool Enrichment Program for the Forsyth-Stokes Mental Health Center. She was recently recognized by the Yadkin County Gamma Nu Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa. □ Carl Herman (EdD) was named principal of Western Alamance High School in Elon College. □ Andrew Hiles is an actuarial assistant with the Pilot Life Insurance Company in Greensboro.

It was a dream come true (after years of hard work) when Beth Leavel (MFA) won a featured role on Broadway. She is playing Anytime Annie in the musical 42nd Street. She had been the understudy for Lucy Arnaz in I Do, I Do when she was asked to audition for 42nd Street. She toured for a year with the show before she was called in to play the part on Broadway.

□ Charles Monroe (MEd) is a new assistant principal at Weaver Education Center in Greensboro. Charles received the Reidsville Jaycees' Outstanding Young Educator of the Year Award for 1983-84. □ Cynthia Hall Novak is a registered nurse living in Rural Hall, and her husband, Bill, is an aerospace mechanic. □ Sally Sharp Paulissen has moved to Crossett, AR.

□ David L. Payne and his wife, Sheila Johnson Payne '83, are living in Statesville, where Sheila is a third grade teacher and David is assistant manager of Gordon's Furniture Store. □ Linda Tucker Reyner has a new address in Raleigh. □ Martine L. Sherrill is living in Winston-Salem. □ Mariann Weiler Tillery is a psychologist and her husband, Howard, is a staff photographer for the High Point Enterprise.

MARRIAGES: Louis Cyril Abramovitz to Lynda S. Judis on September 2. Until recently the couple lived in Toledo, OH, where Lynda was finishing up work on her law degree. They now live in Charlotte. Louis plans to take the NC real estate exam and then get into realty development work. □ Wendy LaVonne Barricks to Charles A. Musser Jr. in November. Wendy is with Northrop Services, Inc., and he is with the Wake County Community Development Service.

Lori Faye Blum to Barry D. Sugarman in October. Lori is employed by Today's Computers of Strawbridge and he is with Tuttons Inc. □ Jane Dare Desper to Eddy C. Landreth in October. Jane is with Moses Cone Hospital, and he is with Buck's Yard Service. □ Gregory M. Fears to Catherine Louise Eaton '83 in November. Catherine is with the Greensboro City school system, and Gregory is with Proctor and Gamble. Lucy Wolfe Eaton '47 is mother of the bride.

Sharon Kay Harper (MEd) to John W. Spears in November. She is with the Winfred C. Harper Agency, Inc. and he is with Unfinished Furniture World, Inc. □ Richard Warren Helms to Catherine E. Gaudin in October. Richard is a psychologist at the Catawba County Mental Health Center. She is with Metric Constructors, Inc. □ Tamela Dawn Holt to Randall D. Hancock in August. Tamela is with Home Savings & Loan and he is with B. M. Hancock & Sons Feed Mill Inc. They live in Siler City.

Myra Annette Laughter to Christopher S. Bowen. Myra is with Bouvier Cecil, and her husband is employed by Trim USA. □ Maria Garnet Miller to Howard J. Henderson in October. Maria is employed with the Bear Claw Cafe, and he is with Teton Video. Maria's mother is Billie Upchurch Miller '44. □ Dara Lee Moore (MM) to William O. Edwards Jr. in November. Dara teaches piano, and he is a farmer. The couple took a wedding trip to Paradise Island, and live in Wendell.

Suzanne Dale Newman to Walter Scott Brewer in October. Suzanne is employed by Wesley Long Community Hospital, and he is with the City of Greensboro. □ Donna Kay Strickland to Thomas Jay Delephant on October 20 in Scranton, PA. Kay is a student at the University of Scranton, and her husband is a physician.

Gale Lynn Tyson to Jazal Adouli in November. Gale is employed by Piedmont Airlines. He is with Chez Francois in Great Falls and will graduate in May with a BS in mechanical engineering from the University of the District of Columbia, Washington, DC. The couple live in Reston, VA. □ Annette Susan Vaden to Michael D. Holsh in October. Annette is manager of professional employment and employee benefits at SAS Institute Inc. in Cary. He is a general practitioner of family dentistry in Fuquay-Varina. The couple live in Raleigh.

One of Ten

Ada M. Fisher '70 has been named one of the Ten Outstanding Young Women of America in 1984. She was recognized for both her professional achievements and her civic involvement. Ada has been at John Umstead Hospital in Butner since 1981. She also served as a clinical instructor at UNC-CH in the Department of Family Medicine. In February she began a new position as Industrial Physician for Martin Marietta in Oak Ridge, TN.

Ada received her MD in 1975 from the University of Wisconsin Medical School at Madison, where she was the founder of Madison Medicus, a medical association for black alumni. Later she received a masters of public health from Johns Hopkins University under a US Public Health Service Scholarship. Ada has a special interest in the Durham Historic Preservation organization and the Youth Motivation Task Force. While at UNC-G, Ada was named one of twenty-two outstanding seniors, and Outstanding Legislator. She was included in the National Student Register, and in 1980 was inducted into the Golden Chain Honor Society as an honorary member. She has served on the UNC-G Black Alumni Council. The UNC-CH Student National Medical Association has named her community Physician of the Year. She has also been listed in Who's Who of American Women and in Who's Who in the South and Southwest. This year she has been named a national finalist in the White House Fellowship Program.

was exhibited at this year's Art on Paper show. □ Patty Barris Baucom was named the Greenhorn Award winner for the Marketing Division of Vocational Education in 1984. She was honored at the Summer Vocational Education Conference. The award is presented annually to the outstanding vocational educator in each program area with three years of experience or less. Patty is a marketing teacher/coordinator at Parkwood High School in Charlotte.

Andrew and Beth Peeler Bereznak are now living in Liberty. □ Anita Brown Burkey is an interior designer and lives in Antioch, TN. □ Elizabeth Hill Carbonaro is living in Radcliff, KY, where her husband, Brian, is a 2nd lieutenant in the US Army. □ Byron D. Cooper is with the Kendal Medical Division of Colgate Palmolive and lives in Richmond, VA. □ Hollyjean M. Coward has been elected secretary/treasurer of the first-year class at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine at Wake Forest University.

G. Thad Cox is with the Legg's Division of Hanes and lives with his wife, Sonya, in King. □ Anthony "Tony" Goldston is a staff designer with the North Carolina Zoological Park, where he creates and maintains the zoo's man-made rocks. □ Dan Greene has been promoted to general accounting supervisor for FCX, Inc. □ Linda Hiatt is the communications director for Family and Children's Service of Greater Greensboro. She was awarded the "Most Promising New Health Educator Award" by the North Carolina Chapter of the Society for Public Health Education.

Elizabeth Hines has moved to Baton Rouge, LA. □ David and Susan Harrison Johnson live in Waxhaw. □ Ron Law has been appointed an instructor in theater arts at High Point College. □ Denise L. Lippucci is a food service specialist with the Rogers American Company in Charlotte.

On October 19th Dabbs Postma became a naturalized citizen of the United States at the age of eleven. He is the son of Pamela Lovelless Postma (MFA) and her husband, Robert. Dabbs is an Amerasian child who was adopted by the Postmas when he was four months old. Pamela feels it took a "certain amount of courage" to adopt an Amerasian child but also, "I feel that as a country we have a terrific obligation to those American children left behind." Now, with the Postma's other two children, Tanner and Saskia, Dabbs is, "just one of the crowd."

Selia Shoffner (MFA) is the new Community Schools director for Weldon City Schools. □ Linda Susan Slayton has been promoted by the First Union National Bank to commercial loan officer. □ Ronald O. Snyder and his wife, Jane Hart Snyder '82, are living in Lancaster, SC. Jane teaches with the Lancaster City School System. □ Ellen Figaro Solbakken is a high school teacher who lives in Charlotte. □ Nancy Stephens, a Raleigh resident, is now a junior management analyst with Carolina Power and Light. □ Mezzo-soprano Barbara Presnell Strider was selected as one of the soloists at the 31st annual presentation of G. F. Handel's "Messiah" by the Greensboro Oratorio Society.

1981

BLUE REUNION 1986

Richard Barnette's "Sunset, Dublin County"

MARRIAGES: Teresa Dawn Bass to George M. Garlick in October. Teresa attends graduate school at the University. He is a chemical engineer with Burlington Menswear. The couple live in Clarksville. □ Susan Leslie Beaty to Robert W. Stedman in Charlotte in October. Susan is a bond underwriter with the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Plantation, FL. He is director of health promotion with the North Broward Hospital District in Fort Lauderdale, FL. After a trip to Canada, the couple returned to live in Fort Lauderdale.

□ Giles Thaddeus Cox to Sonya Renee Moorefield in September. Thad works for L'eggs Brands and she is with The Hair Gallery. They live in Winston-Salem. □ Susan Camille Deans to Lawrence G. Lumsden in September. Susan is employed by the Wake County Department of Social Services, and he is with Ready Mixed Concrete Company of Raleigh. They honeymooned in Myrtle Beach and Williamsburg. □ Carol S. Gallagher to Douglas Hayworth on August 25, 1984. Carol works for Burlington Industries/Chemical Division, and Doug works for Dow Corning Corp. They live in Jamestown.

□ Sharon Marie Guyer to John C. Bennett in September. The couple both work for Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. □ Rhonda Hartgrove to David P. Morrow in October. Rhonda is a registered nurse at Forsyth Memorial Hospital, and he is a computer analyst at Hanes Printables. The couple live in Winston-Salem. □ Susan Tara Moxley to Michael G. Anthony in September. She is employed at Brendle's Inc., and he is a self-employed builder. They honeymooned in Key West, FL, and live in Hamptonville.

□ Scott Elton Pierce to Deborah Kaye Atkins in October. Scott is employed by GTE Data Services as a computer operator, and Kaye is a student at UNC-G. They live in Chapel Hill.

□ Sherry Robin Shackelford to Irving G. Hay in October. Sherry is with the Willowbrook Care Center in Kernersville, and he is with the Pennsylvania Casualty Insurance Company in Greensboro.

□ Ronald O. Snyder to Jane Carolyn Hart '82 in August. Jane is a music instructor with Lancaster City Schools. He works for Folger Buick and is a trumpet player for "The Big Sound" in Charlotte and plays lead trumpet for the UNC-C Jazz Band. Music for the couple's wedding ceremony was provided by the Faculty Brass Quintet of UNC-G. The couple live in Lancaster and honeymooned at the Outer Banks.

1982

GREEN
REUNION 1987

Ann Abbitt has begun her first year of training at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's School of Pharmacy. □ Gary T. Applewhite (MA) has just completed his doctorate in dental surgery at UNC-CH. He has opened an office in Stoneville. □ Martha Braswell Bateman is an art teacher for Fort Bragg Schools in Fayetteville.

□ Stephanie Beers is a pharmacy technician in Raleigh. □ Janice Dooley Clark is a music instructor with the School of the Arts and lives

Gobble Gobble

Taking second prize in this year's North Carolina Turkey Cooking Contest was Margie L. Godwin '77 of Greensboro. Margie is a counselor at the Diet Center and has entered many recipe contests in the past. Margie's winning recipe is:

Turkey Tacos in Tortilla Baskets

- 1½ lbs raw turkey breast, coarsely ground
- 2 Tbs oil
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 15 oz can tomato sauce
- 1 cup water
- 1.51 oz envelope taco seasoning mix
- ¼ tsp hot pepper sauce
- 1 quart finely shredded lettuce
- 1 cup Cheddar cheese, grated
- 2 medium tomatoes, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup corn chips
- 6 tortillas
- Oil

In a large skillet, saute ground turkey in oil for 5 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally, until pinkness disappears. Add onion and cook 1 minute longer. Add tomato sauce, water, taco seasoning and pepper sauce. Simmer uncovered for 20 minutes until thickened. Heat oil to 375°. Hold each tortilla under oil with a ladle or tortilla-basket maker for 1½ minutes. Remove from fat and drain on paper towel. Place tortilla baskets on large platter. Arrange lettuce in baskets, then spoon turkey taco sauce over lettuce, followed by cheese, tomatoes and corn chips. Makes 6 servings.

PHOTO: EMMIE WHITLEY, TURKEY ASSOCIATION

in Greensboro. □ Melanie Cole has been awarded a teaching assistantship at Cornell University in Ithaca, NY, in the field of metal sculpture. She was one of three students selected by the graduate school of art and architecture to work on a master of fine arts degree. □ Lisa Cox is a business data processing instructor at the Weaver Education Center in Greensboro. □ Nancy Jean Beam Davidson is a housewife and mother who lives in Gastonia. Her husband, Roger, is the district executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

□ Deborah S. Dixon has moved to Raleigh. Rebecca Jayne Campbell Dunn is a teacher and lives in Bennettsville, SC. □ Two sculptures by Richard Fennell (MFA) were purchased by Northern Telecom Inc. They had been in the firm's third annual exhibition of North Carolina Sculpture held in October at the Research Triangle Park facility of the firm. Richard, who is also a painter, has most recently exhibited in the North Carolina Artists Exhibition at the N.C. Museum of Art, at the Fayetteville Museum of Art, and at Duke University.

□ Susan Bjerke Gordan is a CPA living in Greensboro. □ Robert Graham (MFA) of Greensboro won a $500 merit award for a landscape in oils that was entered in the 26th annual Springs Industries Art Show held in Lancaster, SC. Also accepted for the show were the works of Julia Memory '68 and Joe Whisnant '76 (MFA). □ Cindy Breneman Hattrich is a personnel secretary in Charlotte.

□ Marilyn Keith is a 2nd lieutenant in the USAF and stationed at McGuire AFB in NJ. She is a shift commander with the 438th Security Police Squadron. □ Gary E. Lewis is a Navy airman who has completed the five-week Aviation Enlisted Aircrew Training School at the Naval Aviation Schools Command at Pensacola, FL. □ Joining the UNC-G Academic Computer Center in October was Judy Hunsucker Martin. □ Rodney M. Ozts has been appointed assistant director of publicity and marketing for the Catawba County Council for the Arts. □ Laura M. Parker is now living back in good old Greensboro.

□ Roberta Glasgow Smith has joined the University faculty. Roberta is a lecturer in the department of biology. She completed her MA degree at the University last summer. She and her husband, Hugh, live in Julian. □ Sheron Keel Summer (PhD) was one of three East Carolina University alumni to receive ECU's Outstanding Alumni Awards. Sheron has been a member of the UNC-G School of Home Economics faculty since 1966. □ Although not new to Piedmont Airlines, Patty Walker has a new title: pricing analyst in the department of pricing yield management. She took over her new position in early October.

MARRIAGES: Cindy LaVerne Breneman to Mark A. Hattrich in September. Cindy is a personnel secretary at Adam's Mark Hotel, and Mark is a professional studio photographer for Photo Corp. The couple live in Charlotte.

□ James R. Clendenin to Mary Amanda Forcum in September. James is employed by Quality Business Machine Company, and she is with Frito-Lay Inc. □ Janice Claire Dooley to Robert P. D. Clark in September. Janice is an instructor of music in the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem, and he is a sales and purchasing agent for E.N. Beard Hardwood Lumber Inc. The couple live in Greensboro.

□ Deborah Lynn Frutchet to Gregory K. James in November. The wedding reception was held in the Alumni House. Deborah is the daughter of Carole Scott Frutchet Tyson '59. She is employed by the City of Greenville, and he has received his law degree from the Campbell University School of Law. □ Sheila Irene Green to Lawrence C. Smith in November. She is an RN at Hillhaven Rose Manor, and he is a data technician at Northern Telecom. They live in Durham.

Sarah Virginia Hill to Steven L. Sowers in November. Sarah is with Baby Diaper Service in Greensboro. He is with Armored Protective Service. They live in High Point. □ Dale Lynn Horner to Arlette Faith Chrismon in October. Dale is a CPA, and she is employed by Dr. Paul F. Williams. □ Timothy Mark Johnson to Deborah J. Wilson in November. He is with Pilot Freight Carriers, Inc., and she is employed by Dixon Qualls, DDS. They live in Charlotte.

David D. King to Julia De Neece Osborn in November. David is with Black Brothers Southeast Services, Inc., and she is with Unifi, Inc. □ Susan K. Kirkman to Darrell R. Harvey in September. Susan is with the advertising department of the Greensboro News & Record, and he is with Northern Telecom. □ Margaret Mansfield McGuire to George M. Elliott Jr. in September. She is employed by the Buchanan's Drug Store, and he is with Carolina Biological Supply Company. □ Susan Margaret Moore to Billy Ray Kirby in August. Susan is a teacher in the Tarboro City School System, and he is with Pleasants Hardware Co. They live in Tarboro.

Rosa Maria Plaza to Richard F. Dest in September. Rosa works for the Southern Radio Corp., and he is a dentist with Family Dentistry. They live in Charlotte. □ Lisa Ann Powell to Mark David Darnell on September 1 in Danville, VA. She is employed by The Advocate in Madison, and he is with Pextile Enterprises in Stoneville. □ Phyllis Ann York to Phillip R. Harris in August. She is a physician's assistant employed by Dr. J. D. Simmons of Mt. Airy. He is with Phil Harris Saddlery Inc.

1983

RED
REUNION 1988

Janice Bell Anderson is a flight attendant with US Air and lives in Reidsville. □ Cynthia D. Brown (NPA) was elected the Eastern co-chairwoman of the North Carolina Coalition Against Domestic Violence. She was also elected the Coalition's representative on the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence. Cynthia is employed as assistant shelter director by Family & Children's Service.

Elizabeth A. Brady Childers is a medical technologist who lives in Coral Springs, FL, with her husband, Keith. □ Meleah Wolfington Crews has moved to Winston-Salem.

Dalphene Crowder has been promoted to a production and inventory control analyst at Allen-Bradley. □ Brenda Kay Smith Darr is living in Lexington. □ Patricia Allen Davidson is a teacher who lives in Greensboro with her husband, Charles, who is with the Chem-lawn Corp.

Jill Cutler Farley is the business manager for Triangle Research and Development Corp. Her husband, Bill, is assistant vice president of the

Number One in the USA

The Society of Experimental Social Psychology gave its 1983-84 "Dissertation of the Year Award" to Leonard L. Martin '80 (MA) and '83 (PhD). The award recognizes the best doctoral dissertation research and writing done by a graduate student in social psychology. Leonard presented his dissertation to the Society's members at the annual October meeting held in Salt Lake City, UT. Approximately 90 dissertations were entered, and Leonard was one of three finalists. As the winner, he automatically becomes a member of the Society, which is deemed to be that discipline's most prestigious professional group. Leonard's winning dissertation was entitled, "Categorization and Differentiation: A Set, Re-Set, Comparison Analysis of the Effects of Context on Person Perception." Leonard is now pursuing post-doctoral studies at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign on a fellowship awarded him from the National Institute of Mental Health.

Corporate Credit Union in Greensboro. They live in Cary. □ James B. Forker has been promoted with Transport International. □ Yvonne Dorset Goco is married to a general surgeon and lives in Winston-Salem. □ Denise Peeler Gray is production supervisor at Datensouth Computer in Charlotte.

Kathie Sue Noyer Greaves (MSN) has been named an instructor in nursing at Wingate College for the new nursing program which enables registered nurses to get their BSN degree. Kathie will teach a health assessment course, work on curriculum development and assist the program's director in all aspects of the BSN degree completion program. □ Timothy S. Harris has recently completed a training program for retail branch managers for NCNB and will assume the position of branch manager of NCNB in Hickory.

Delene Holloway Huggins is a teacher at the NC School for the Deaf, and her husband is a veterinarian. They live in Greensboro. □ At Albion College in Michigan, Michael Kissinger has been appointed adjunct instructor of clarinet. Michael is completing his master's at Michigan State University. Each summer he serves as recitalist, instructor of clarinet, and ensemble coach at the New England Music Camp in Oakland, ME. □ Michael LaCroix (MBA) has been appointed head librarian at Wingate College.

In this year's Art on Paper exhibit the works, "Treasure Island," by Der-Cheng Lien and, "Close Up," by Judy McKellar-Whisenant were shown. □ Dennis Martin had moved to Pensacola, FL. □ Leslie S. Bell-McCarthy and her husband, John, live in Roswell, GA. □ Rhonda Clark-Brady is a teacher and student living in Carrboro. □ Sylvia Wellton Menches is living in Pensacola, FL, where her husband is an aviation officer candidate in the US Navy.

Jody Bennett Pearce (MEd) has been installed as president of the Alumnae Association at Salem Academy in Winston-Salem. Jody is the director of administration with the WNC Corp. □ Karen Johnson Rolleri (MFA) is the technical director for the Greensboro Community Theatre, and husband, Michael (MFA), is technical director and building manager in the theatre department at High Point College. The couple reside in Greensboro. □ Samuel M. Stickney is an insurance agent living in Asheville.

Maryann L. Threndyle is a teacher of music and lives in St. Albert, Canada. □ Jackie Coss Tiller is a homemaker in Greensboro. □ Kathy Thorne Timberlake is a secretary and living in Durham with her husband, John, who is with UPS. □ Joan Ozburn Vincent (EdD) has been appointed the assistant area director of the Guilford County Area Mental Health, Mental Retardation and Substance Abuse Program. Joan has been with the program since 1977.

Deborah Rives Williams is a teacher's aide at Carrboro Elementary School and lives in Chapel Hill. □ Lisa Shelton Zucker and husband, Chris W., are living in Kenner, LA. Lisa is with the Ford Motor Company, and Chris works in retail sales.

MARRIAGES: Janice LaRose Bell to Allen K. Anderson in August. She is a flight attendant for US Air in Washington. He is a field engineer for Hewlett-Packard. The couple honeymooned in the Bahamas and live in Reidsville. □ Sherrilyn Denise Black to Mark S. McInnis in October. He is the owner of Unlimited Frameworks in Reidsville where the couple live.

Sharon Gail Chicurel to Stephen J. Hawkins in the Alumni House on October 21. Sharon is employed by the Xerox Corp. in Roanoke, and he is with Brown, Edwards & Co. □ Phyllis Lynne Coulter to Philip W. Duhan in November. Phyllis is employed by Moses H. Cone Hospital and he is with Lawson Quality Construction Co. □ Larry Stephen Farmer to Patti Lynn Burnett in October. Their reception was held at the Alumni House. Patti is a student at the University and is employed by Gem Creations. Larry is employed by the Guilford County schools.

Denise Kathleen Foster to Norman R. Askev in November. Denise is employed by Carborundum Abrasives Co., and he is with Ragan Hardware. □ Jane Hadley Goforth (MED) to Geoffrey L. Wheeler in October. Jane is with the Senates Employees Child Care Center in Washington, DC. He is employed by the Reston South Golf Course. □ Kimberly Jo Hooks (MSHE) to William A. Craig Jr. in October. She is a registered dietician and director of dietetic services at Humana Hospital in Greensboro. He is a research technician at UNC. The couple live in Burlington.

Martha Lynn Horn to Dennis G. Hoover in September. Martha is with Merchants Metals Inc., and he is with Harvey B. Reese, a distributor of Pet Milk. The couple honeymooned in the Hawaiian Islands and live in Statesville. □ David W. Jackson to Kimberly Kay Williams in September. David is employed by the City of Greensboro, and Kim is with the First Lutheran School for Young Children.

□ Rhonda Anne Moore to Jerry W. Holland Jr. in August. She is employed by the Fieldcrest Store, and he is self employed by Holland and Associates. The couple live in Eden. □ Catherine Ann Pike to Gregory Morgan Plough in November. Catherine is the information director for the Better Business Bureau of Southern Piedmont Inc., Charlotte, and he is a videographer-editor at Sun Belt Video.

Sherri Layne Redding to Captain Matthew A. Ronn in September. Sherri is employed by the University, and he is in the US Army. □ Anna Elizabeth Sheppard to William K. Craver in September. Anna is a credit officer with Culp, Inc., and he is a chemical analyst with the City of High Point where they live. □ Samuel M. Stickney to Norma Elizabeth Craven in September. He is employed by Insurance Service of Asheville, and she is with Aetna Life and Casualty.

Craig Lewis Summerville to Katherine A. Dalgleish in September. Craig is with Martin Marketing, and she is with Continental Insurance. The couple live in Charlotte. □ Kathy Elizabeth Thorne to John W. Timberlake Jr. in September. Kathy is with the Southeastern Regional Council for Educational Improvement in Durham, and he is with United Parcel Service. □ Doris Mae Vanderberg to John Williams in November. Doris is employed by Shoe Show Inc., and he is manager of Pearle Vision Optical Center. They live in Slidell, LA.

Patricia Ann Waggoner to Mitchell W. Leonard in September. She is a free-lance fashion consultant for Alexander and Co. in Hendersonville. He is with Bell's Traditionals Ltd. The couple live in Asheville. □ Sylvia Lynn Wellborn to Robert C. Menches in May. Sylvia is an exercise physiologist, and he is an aviation officer candidate at the Naval Air Station in Pensacola, FL, where the couple live.

1984

LAVENDER REUNION 1989

Jan Bailey Braxton (EdD) has been appointed chairman of the department of health, physical education and recreation at Hampton Institute and is the first woman ever in that position.

□ Melanie Rhea Forrister has begun her first year of study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Dentistry. Melanie was one of seventy-nine students selected for the four-year program which leads to a doctor of dental surgery degree. □ Dawn M. Frailly has started her first year of training at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Pharmacy.

Jon Mark Jackson had hardly stepped off campus last spring when he was asked to return as payroll accountant with the Office of Residence Life. He says he loves working at UNC-G. Jon Mark is beginning a three-year term as class representative to the Alumni Association's Board of Trustees. □ Kristen Olsen Kelly is a student, and husband, Steven '80, is a band director. They live in Brevard. □ Leonzo D. Lynch was elected pastor of the Winn Chapel Baptist Church in Mount Olive.

The Raleigh Little Theatre board has appointed William C. Rodgers (MFA) its new technical director/scenic designer. William has been described as "an upcoming star in professional theatre design" by professor William D. File at the University. □ Adeline Garner Shell (PhD), consumer advocate and author, was the featured speaker at the University's 13th biennial Home Economics Alumni Seminar in October. She spoke on "Change . . . To Strengthen the Power of the Home Economics Profession."

The Tamukati Productions Company opened its first production in January. The Company is a new theatrical troupe in Greensboro which was formed by Ndongala Tamukati (MA), who is from Zaire. Ndongala is now doing graduate study at UNC-CH. Ndongala has also promoted the appearance of "Zaiko," a Zairian music and dance troupe. He is working on a book drawn from his master's thesis, "A View of Zaire Theatre," which traces the evolution of theater in his country. His present studies are geared toward a doctorate in mass communication.

Deaths

FACULTY

Gregory D. Ivy died on January 12, 1985, in Springfield, MO. Mr. Ivy was the founder of the University's art department and the Weatherspoon Art Gallery. He came to establish the art department in 1935 and stayed until 1960. He spent the next five years as design coordinator for Loewenstein-Athinson, a Greensboro architectural firm. In 1965, he was named chairman of the art department at California State University at Fullerton, where he stayed until retiring in the early 1970s to his native Missouri. Mr. Ivy received his undergraduate degree from Central Missouri State College and his master's from Columbia. Several of his works are owned by the Weatherspoon Art Gallery. He was in his early eighties and had a heart condition.

Madeline B. Street died on December 12, 1984, at the age of 82. She was former chairman and professor in the Department of Housing and Interior Design in the School of Home Economics at the University from 1930 to 1965. Her leadership led to the Residential Lighting Laboratory at UNC-G. She had been nationally recognized for her research in space planning and equipment for university and college home economics departments. She also served as a consultant to the United States Department of Education and the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. She was a member of the Jamestown Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Daughters of the American Colonists, the American and North Carolina Home Economics Association, Amicron NCI, and Delta Kappa. She is survived by her daughter, Jane Street Oldacre '46. Memorials may be made to the Madeline B. Street Scholarship at the University.

Chase Going Woodhouse, former dean of students of the Woman's College from 1927-36, died in New Canaan, CT, at the age of 94. She was a former U.S. Representative and Connecticut Secretary of the State. From 1952 to 1980 she headed the Service Bureau for Women's Organizations in Hartford, CT.

ALUMNI

Linda Shuford McIntosh '09 died on October 9, 1984, at the age of 95. She was a retired school teacher and a native of Catawba County. She is survived by her sister, Annie Lee Shuford Wall '05.

Fay Davenport Harmon '12 died on September 19, 1984.

The Alumni Office has learned of the death of Pauline Whitley '12.

Glady's Avery Tiltet '15 died on September 21, 1984, in Charlotte. She was 92 years old. She had devoted half a century to political activism. In the 1920s she fought to permit the teaching of the theory of evolution in Tennessee. She organized the first county chapter of the League of Women Voters (Mecklenburg) in 1921 and later became president of the League in North Carolina. From 1940-50 she served as assistant chairman of the Democratic National Committee, a post higher than any other woman had ever reached in the party. In 1944 Glady's gave a keynote speech at the democratic convention and shared a radio campaign broadcast with President Roosevelt. In 1961 she was named the United States representative to the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women. In the 1970s she was president of a statewide group lobbying for passage of the equal rights amendment. She was a member of the Alpha Sigma Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma. She is survived by her daughters Gladys Tillett Coddington '41 and Sara Tillett Thomas '47x.

CLASS NOTES ♦ CLASS NOTES

Margaret E. Harper '16 of Lenoir has died. Sara All Ahernethy '19 of New Bern died on April 30, 1983. She was a virtuoso pianist and organist who taught piano for over sixty years in Greensboro, Burlington and New Bern.

Martha Speas Phillips '19 died on October 14, 1984.

Amanda Rena King '22 died on September 30, 1984. Rena was a teacher, principal, and school supervisor for forty-two years before her retirement in 1964. She was the first woman supervisor in the Johnston County school system. After her retirement she assisted in establishing libraries in the schools at Micro, Glendale, and Staniel's Chapel. In 1982 she was recognized as a "Distinguished Citizen" by the Greater Smithfield-Selma Area Chamber of Commerce.

Gladys Black Carr '24 died on October 13, 1984, at Presbyterian Hospital. She was a former home economics teacher.

Susie Wall Roberson Clegg '25 has died.

The Alumni Office has received word that Lillian Fields Moore '25 died in December 1983.

Ruth Dixon Henley '28, a retired MD, died on June 1, 1984.

Celia Fuller Ferebee '29 died in January 1984. She was a public school teacher and co-founder and teacher of Christ Episcopal Church Kindergarten.

Hazel Jenkins Andrews '31 died on November 30, 1984. She is survived by her daughter, Sara "Sally" Andrews Wilkins '69.

Rebecca Day Church '31 of Walkertown died on July 31, 1984.

Ethel Leonard Folger '31 died October 8, 1984 at her home. She was a retired school teacher and native of Rowan County.

The Alumni Office has learned of the death of Anne McDowell Goulden '31. She is survived by Joselyn McDowell Williams '22, Edwina McDowell Margrett '33 and Marion McDowell Schnurer '35.

Ruth Elaine Stone '32 died October 9, 1984. She was a retired librarian and lecturer from the School of Library Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. She taught children's and young adult literature.

Reaville Austin Gray '34 died on November 29, 1984 at High Point Memorial Hospital. She is survived by her daughter, Elizabeth "Betsy" Gray Harrington '66x.

Mary Louise Shepard Seitz '36 died on September 22, 1984, of cancer in Delaware. Mary Louise was Everlasting President of the Class of 1936.

Doris Butler Stewart '40 died on August 2, 1984.

Frances Anne Glass Covington '45 died in April 1984.

The Alumni Office has learned that Arlene Whitener Peting '45 died in 1982.

Mary A. Riddle Swanton '46 has died. Marion Weller Barnett '47 died on July 4, 1984.

Anna Gibson Smith '59 died on September 2, 1984.

Thomas Lee Ridenhour '60 (MED) died in September. He was a retired school teacher who taught in Davie County for thirty years. He is survived by his sister, Nancy "Nan" Ridenhour Boon '48.

Patricia Dillon McCormick '65C died November 5, 1984, at her home. She was a retired administrative secretary at North Carolina State University.

Mary Angela Styers Hernandez '70 (MED) died on November 25, 1984. Angela was an English teacher in the public schools of Puerto Rico, an interpreter for the FBI in World War II, a teacher in the Forsyth County School System, and a librarian and media specialist in the Greensboro City School System. She was chosen by the State Department and the Organization of Latin American States to organize a library system in Costa Rica.

The Alumni Office has learned that Lucy J. Culler '78 (MLS) died November 8, 1984, of injuries suffered from an automobile accident.

Second Call for Photography

UNC-G alumni are reinvited to submit original black and white photographic prints to be considered for publication in the Spring/85 issue of Alumni News.

Submission requirements:

- ◆ Photographs must have been exposed but not necessarily printed by submitting alumnus.
- ◆ Prints must be previously unpublished.
- ◆ Photographer's full name, class year, address, and brief biographical statement must accompany print. Photographer's name and title of work (if any) must appear on back of print.
- ◆ No limit on number of prints submitted.
- ◆ All prints will be returned.

Send to:

Alumni News

Alumni House

UNC-G Campus

Greensboro, NC 27412

Deadline: April 1, 1985

Home Economics, from p. 14

Award, and she currently serves as vice chairman of the UNC-G Board of Trustees. She is a past president of the UNC-G Alumni Association and has served on the Alumni Annual Giving Council. In 1980, her husband and family established the Gladys Strawn Bullard Awards that recognize the leadership contributions of faculty, staff, and students at UNC-G.

The School of Home Economics has built a tradition in its biennial seminar. Already, the faculty and staff are looking forward to the 1986 seminar and hope that many of the School's 5,000-plus alumni will be able to attend.

Sports, from p. 15

A turning point for women's athletics nationally came in 1972 with Title IX of the Education Act. This opened the way for athletic scholarships and other financial assistance for women's intercollegiate athletic programs. While other colleges and universities in the state began subsidizing their women's programs, UNC-G maintained its non-scholarship policy.

In the Fall 1978 issue of Alumni News, Chancellor James S. Ferguson remarked, "We believe that participation in intercollegiate athletics is a valuable educational experience, and we are continuing our efforts to develop the best non-scholarship program we can have."

An adjustment period ensued in the late 1970s which resulted in the elimination of some women's teams, among them the highly successful field hockey and golf teams. It was decided that a commitment to fewer teams in NCAA Division III was preferable to struggling with, and often losing to, scholarship-boostered opponents.

Changes effective at the end of the 1980-1981 school year produced the present alignment of four teams for women and four for men, all affiliated with NCAA Division III. Endorsed by Chancellor William E. Moran, this has been a winning formula.

Coach Lynn Agee's women's basketball team has won three consecutive Dixie Conference championships and have appeared in the NCAA post-season national tournament each year. It advanced to the finals for the national tournament in 1981, losing to Elizabethtown (PA) College, 67-66 in overtime.

The women's tennis team, also coached by Ms. Agee, has captured three successive conference titles and was national runner-up in 1982. Coach Tere Dail has directed the volleyball and softball teams to several conference championships, and the volleyball team has participated in the NCAA Tournament for three straight seasons.

Ms. Agee, who was appointed assistant athletic director last fall, said that there may not be a direct correlation between the success of the program now and that of twenty years ago.

"It's a totally different era, a new generation with new concepts and new philosophies," Ms. Agee said, "The reputation we have does help in recruiting athletes, however. The University sells itself.

"UNC-G has always stood for excellence in its academic and athletic programs," she continued.

"We competed with other colleges up to the point when scholarships were offered, and it became physically impossible. Then we changed our course, and success has continued.

"So much has changed in women's athletics within the past two decades," said Ms. Dail, who has coached at UNC-G since 1977. "But the support from the administration and the athletic department [for women's athletics] has not. The increased emphasis has been the key to our success."

Historical information for this article was obtained from a master's thesis in physical education by Deborah E. Jones '82 MEd.

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro has established a tradition of academic excellence. For over ninety years we have sought to recruit and graduate individuals of strong academic abilities who have gone forth and contributed to our campus and community, our state and nation. As a University rich in tradition yet eager to face tomorrow's challenges, we invite you to join us in our search for outstanding students. You may have a child, grandchild, or friend that you would be proud to recommend for admission to your alma mater. Please take a moment to help us find someone else just like you.

WE'RE LOOKING FOR PEOPLE
JUST LIKE YOU.

I present to the University my:

____son      ____grandson      ____brother      ____nephew      ____friend
____daughter      ____granddaughter      ____sister      ____niece      ____neighbor whose name is _____ whose address is _____

and who is interested in _____ undergraduate study      _____ graduate study

Your name _____
(if married woman, include maiden name)

Your address _____

Class year _____ Degree/major _____

Comments _____

Please return to Admissions, UNC-G, Greensboro, N C 27412

Alumni Business

Your membership in the Alumni Association gives you the privilege of voting for the officers and trustees of the Association. Use the ballot insert to cast your vote for the slate presented here. You may vote for one candidate in each position. Place a 14¢ stamp on your ballot and return it to the Alumni Office by April 15, 1985.

PRESIDENT-ELECT

JANIE CRUMPTON EVANS REECE '47, Greensboro. Housewife. "After living in Burlington for many years, teaching at Elon College, and being widowed, one of the joys of remarriage and moving to Greensboro is the great opportunity afforded for participation in UNC-G activities. The recently released 'Long Range Physical Plan' for the University is very exciting, and it would be an honor to work with the Alumni Association toward bringing it to fruition." Janie is a member of the Alumni House Committee. She served on an Alumni Scholars District Committee in 1965-70. She was finance chair of the Alumni Association and a member of the Alumni Board in 1980-82. She has also helped in local Annual Giving efforts. Janie has served as a member of the faculty in the mathematics departments at North Carolina State University (1947-49) and at Elon College (1954-84). She received her MEd from UNC-G in 1972; she did postgraduate study here in 1975-76. She is a member of her church's finance committee and administrative board. She is a member of the Greensboro Symphony Guild, the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, two book clubs, and a garden club. During her tenure at Elon College, she served on the college's Admissions Committee and Athletic Committee and was involved in other academic, athletic, and social activities.

CATHY STEWART VAUGHN '49, Montreat. Homemaker. "I would like to serve as president for two reasons. First, I love UNC-G and am grateful for my education there. Second, I think it is time to widen alumni participation and elect a president from outside the 100 mile radius of the campus. I pledge to strive for more involvement of all alumni, especially from the past two decades, and to make the Association the invaluable arm to the University that it should be." Cathy has served as first vice president of the Alumni Association (1981-84), a trustee of the Association (1977-79), a member of the Alumni Board's Executive Committee, and a member of the Alumni Advisory Committee on University Long-Range Planning (1978-80). She chaired the Alumni Scholars Committee and served as chair of a "Woman & Finances" seminar for western NC alumni. Cathy taught in 1949-52 and 1963-64 and held a Fulbright Scholarship in Cairo, Egypt (1952-54). A member of Women of Church Council (a national Presbyterian council) she is chair of the Ministry Group on Women of the Presbyterian Synod of NC and coordinator for Women of the Church for the Synod. A member of the Junior Service League, she is a past president of the PTA, and chair of Red Cross Blood Bank recruitment. She has served as secretary and executive committee member of the Asheville/Buncombe County Local Government Study Commission.

RECORDING SECRETARY

SUSAN BROUSSARD NOLAN '71, Greensboro. Job placement officer, Guilford Technical Community College. "With a motto of 'Service' and a university song which says, '... and service we shall do,' UNC-G has produced alumni who impact the quality of life in their communities through their professional and volunteer activities. I'd like to serve through the telling and selling of the liberal arts story to prospective UNC-G students, a mission I feel important for the Alumni Association." "Bruce" was job location and development coordinator at UNC-G from 1980-84. She was a part-time bookkeeper for three Greensboro firms from 1978-80; from 1972-78 she was a real estate broker and office manager in Greensboro. She has been a member of the Alumni Planning Council, served on the Alumni Association's Student Relations Committee, and was a planner for Melver Conference for three years. She has served on the Young Alumni Council and is advisor to the Chi Omegas at UNC-G. Professionally she is president of the National Association of Student Employment Administrators and was honored as "Rookie of the Year." She has served as newsletter editor and as professional development chair of the NC Placement Association. As a trainer in Management by Objectives and other topics, she works with the Junior League of Greensboro, Best Friends, and Volunteers to the Court. She is a member of the Golden Chain honorary society at UNC-G and a community volunteer.

GERALDINE PEARCE DUNHAM '51, Birmingham, AL. Executive vice president of Manpower of Alabama, Inc. "Continuing to believe that strong alumni support is crucial to the future of UNC-G, I welcome the opportunity to expand my participation and service. Of particular interest is the development of programs which would broaden our base of visibility." "Gerry" was a member of the Alumni Board from 1980-83. She has chaired arrangements for a meeting of alumni in the Birmingham area. For ten years after graduation she taught school in NC, SC, and VA. She was a legislative secretary during the 1960 session of the General Assembly. Since 1961 she and her husband have developed five offices in Alabama and Florida under a Manpower franchise. Co-founder of an investment education organization for women, she is a member of the Board of Directors of the Birmingham Business and Professional Women; earlier she served as president of the organization. A member of the US Diving Organization, she is registration chairman for the Southeastern Diving Association. Presently a member of a high school PTA Board, she is a past president of an elementary school PTA. She is a member of the Committee on Nominations for her church women's organization. She was a charter member of the advisory board of her local Community Education program. She has been president of her county's Joint Legislative Council.

TRUSTEE: DISTRICT TWO

FRANCES BENNETT WILLIAMS '69, Wilson. Senior systems analyst at J. I. Miller Tobacco Company. "I welcome an opportunity to promote the work of the Alumni Association, to assist in the direction of the University, and to generate enthusiasm among our alumni." "Fran" is a member of the Alumni Association's Nominating Committee. She was Wilson County chair for the Prospectus III campaign. She began her career in 1973 as a mathematician with the Imperial Tobacco Company and in 1976 was promoted to systems analyst. In 1982, two years after Imperial was purchased by the J. I. Miller Company, she gained her present title and position. A member of the Wilson Jayettes. Fran has served as internal vice president, recording secretary, state director, and treasurer of the organization. She has been presented a "Life Membership" in the organization. She has served as block chair for the Easter Seals campaign for six years and for the Heart Fund for two years.

MARTHA SMITH FERRELL '57, Greenville. Part-time medical technologist, Pitt Memorial Hospital. "UNC-G has been an important part of my life. Since my two daughters have studied there also, I realize even more what an excellent University we have. With our rich heritage of quality education comes the duty to serve our University by recruiting outstanding students, maintaining its academic excellence, and assisting in its direction." Martha served as second vice president of the Alumni Association in 1970-73 and as a member of the Alumni Board in 1969-71. A former county chair for Alumni Annual Giving, she was Pitt County chair for the Prospectus III campaign. She was a member of the Alumni Planning Council in 1978-80, and she has been chair of the Pitt County Alumni Chapter. Martha has been employed as a medical technologist since graduation; she has held her current position since 1967. In her church, she served as chair of the administrative board, the only woman to so serve in the church's 200 year history.

TRUSTEE: DISTRICT THREE

ROSE HOLDEN COLE '53, Holden Beach. Homemaker and land developer. "I would like to see a closer relationship develop between the Alumni Board and the University. We still face the problem of attracting the top students, and the alumni can prove to be of invaluable service to help attain a workable solution to this problem and others as we strive to continue our tradition of excellence in the coming years." Rose served three years as Annual Giving Chair in Randolph County before moving to Holden Beach. She was a member of the Nominating Committee in 1968-69. Following two years of service as a member of the Alumni Service Awards Committee, she chaired the committee in 1980-81. She was a social worker in Asheboro from 1953-55 and executive secretary of the American Red Cross there from 1960-70. She is currently vice chair of the Holden Beach Board of Adjustment, a volunteer in the Adult Probation and Parole program, and a member of the Brunswick County support organization for the NC Symphony.

ESTHER SMITH ARNE '47, Fayetteville. Department chair and instructor, Fayetteville Technical Institute. "High ideals and a strong educational system have kept the University in the forefront of education. Maintaining and exceeding its educational excellence will be more difficult in the future with increasing competition for students, faculty, and funds. I would like to actively participate in meeting the challenges through the Alumni Association." Esther received a master's degree from New York University in 1948. She was a buyer of ladies sportswear in New York City from 1948-54; from 1956-62 she was co-owner of ladies' speciality store in Fayetteville. In 1962-75 she was co-owner of a communications business. She is currently treasurer and a member of the Executive Board of the NC Lutheran Church Women. A member of her church's Council, she is vice chair of the congregation. She is a workshop leader for Leadership Training. A Tutor-Trainer in Literacy (teaching adults to read and write), she has been a member of the Board of Directors of the NC Literacy Association.

TRUSTEE: DISTRICT SEVEN

JAMES I. COBBLER '82, Pilot Mountain. Certified Public Accountant, McGladrey, Hendrickson & Pullen. "As a recent graduate, I have realized the importance of alumni support given new graduates entering their careers. By taking an active role in the Association, alumni can increase employers' awareness of the high quality of education offered at UNC-G. I would welcome the opportunity to serve the alumni and the University." James, currently a senior staff accountant, has been with his firm (formerly A. M. Pullen & Company) since graduation. He received his North Carolina CPA Certificate in July 1984. Recipient of the Eagle Scout Award in 1977, he has served as the assistant scoutmaster for a BSA troop in his community.

ASHLEY HOLLAND DOZIER '54, Winston-Salem. Housewife. "I am grateful for the education I received at UNC-G, and I would like to give back in service what the University gave to me. I believe the best way to accomplish this is becoming a part of the Alumni Board." Ashley taught in the Winston-Salem school system from 1954-58. She is currently a group leader in Winston-Salem Precept Bible Study program and a Circle Bible Moderator in her church's women's organization. She is a member of the Friends of the NC Dance Theatre and of a local garden club. She has served on the boards of the Children's Theatre and the Child Guidance Clinic in Winston-Salem. She has been a docent for Reynolda House.

TRUSTEE: DISTRICT EIGHT

CHRISTINE FREEZE BROWN '55C, Statesville. Homemaker. "UNC-G helped me to have the ability and know-how to be an active woman in the world of business for many years. I want to help others to better prepare themselves to live in the world we face today." She has worked actively in UNC-G fund raising drives in Iredell County. "Chris" worked as a legal secretary in Raleigh from 1956-60. After moving to Statesville she was a secretary with North Carolina National Bank from 1964-69 and with Lake Norman Security Systems (a family business) from 1969-84. She is serving presently as a deacon in her church. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and PEO Sisterhood. For fourteen years she was church organist. She served seven years on the NC State Board of the PEO Sisterhood, the last year the group's state president.

CAROLYN HUNTER WALKER '61, Hickory. Part-time realtor, The Floyd Company/Gallery of Homes. "Those of us who loved the University while we were there and have continued to do so should be willing to give time and efforts so that others will be able to share in the experience we had." She was a member of the Alumni Association's Nominating Committee from 1978-81. Following graduation she taught school; she joined the real estate firm in 1983. She is junior warden on her church's Vestry and has been president of the church's women's organization. She is a member of the Hickory Service League. Currently vice chair of the Hickory Community Theatre Capital Fund Drive, she has served on that organization's Board. She has been membership drive chair of the local Community Concerts Board. She has been a Girl Scout leader and a member of the Hickory Soup Kitchen Task Force and the St. Mary's College Parents' Council.

TRUSTEE: OUT-OF-STATE

SINA MCGIMPSEY REID '65, Baltimore, MD. Corporate officer. "UNC-G did more than provide me with a good education; it gave me the tools that enabled me to sculpture the art of living. For that reason, UNC-G has a friend and supporter in Maryland." Sina is president of SMR, Ltd., a fast food concession; executive vice president of Broadway-Payne, Inc., which operates McDonald's franchises; vice president of DeDah, Inc., retail gas outlets; and vice president of Baltimore Specialty Tours, limousine and charter yacht services. Sina was formerly with the National Education Association in Washington, DC; in 1973 she became manager for administrative services, providing support for the Civil and Human Rights of Educators' program. Earlier, she was social services director of the Hope Center for the Retarded in Denver, CO. She earned a master of arts degree at Antioch College in 1977. A life member of NAACP, she is active in the National Association of Negro Businesses and Professional Women's Clubs, the Baltimore Marketing Association, HUB, Continental Societies, and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

CAROL MYERS BOSHER '78, Richmond, VA. Marketing representative, Control Data Corporation. "Having lived out-of-state since graduation, I have become keenly aware of the important role alumni play in further developing UNC-G's excellent reputation outside North Carolina, as well as within the state. I would welcome the opportunity to take an active role in providing the strong alumni support needed for the University to grow and prosper." Carol coordinated the Prospectus III campaign in Richmond. This year she is actively involved in organizing a Richmond Alumni Chapter. She is Everlasting President of the Class of 1978. She was associated with The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens of Reynolds Metals Company from 1979-81. From 1981-82 she was a regional consumer affairs representative for Reynolds Metals. She is presently active in the American Marketing Association, the Planning Executives Institute, and her church. She has served as secretary of Virginia Home Economists in Business and as president-elect of the central region of the Virginia Home Economics Association.

Fifty Years Ago in Alumnae News . . .

Times were hard fifty years ago, and the struggling campus in Greensboro, known then as the Woman's College, felt the effects of the Depression squarely in the pocketbook. Enrollment had dropped from 1,778 in the 1928-1929 session to 1,327 in the fall of 1934. "What is really disturbing, however," an unknown writer stated in the February 1935 issue of Alumnae News, "is the drop in the funds provided by the state for the support and maintenance of the College — a decline all out of proportion to the decrease in the number of students." State funding had dropped from $465,000 in 1928 to $161,195 in 1934. Moreover, faculty salaries had been subjected to a severe slash, prompting the writer to ask,

. . . did you know that in the reduction of faculty salaries the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Raleigh, and Greensboro ranks first among the institutions of higher learning in the entire country? But a "first" not to be proud of, assuredly. A cut of 32 percent for the years 1933-35 maintains at each of the three units, with no restoration; whereas, the average cut for forty-four of our leading universities is only 15.37 percent, with restorations already in progress.

Yet, there was some good news to be reported:

On February 5, [1935] we received news that the PWA in Washington had granted us an increase of $8,200.00 over the original sum. This makes a total of $39,600.00 which the PWA has given toward the construction of Alumnae House.

Even during this time of austerity, students at the Woman's College could boast of fine opportunities and memorable experiences to be had on campus. Among those reported in the February 1935 issue of Alumnae News were these:

A section of the Alpha chapter of Phi Beta Kappa has been established at Woman's College. Formal installation ceremonies took place at four o'clock on December 12 [1934] in the auditorium of Students' Building.

The Vienna Choir Boys opened the concert series this year, coming to Aycock Auditorium with a remarkably fine program early in November. Benno Rabinoff, Russian violinist, appeared the middle of January. The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra comes next.

Among the noted lecturers who have spoken in Aycock Auditorium since the opening of school are these: S. Miles Bouton, who opened the series the middle of October, discussing "Life Under the Nazi Rule." Bruce Bairnsfather, known as "Old Bill," made us laugh. . . . Vera Brittain, English author, . . . analyzed "How War Affects Women." Ruth Bryan Owen, our first woman diplomat, made a return trip to the college, discussing life in Denmark, where she is the ambassador from the United States. . . . Dorothy Sands appeared in her own creation, "Styles in Acting." Ted Shawn and his ensemble of men appeared in January.

—MCH'74

Library/ARCHIVES Dept.
Jackson Library
CAMPUS